Gambler Target Of Gunman

Gambler Frank Costello wears hat over head bandage as he awaits questioning in New York police station early this morning after he was wounded in what police said was "an apparent assassination attempt." Shooting took place in lobby of his apartment house.

Gambling Czar Says Gunman Must Have 'Mistaken' Identity

By RAY KOHN
NEW YORK (U)—Gambler Frank Costello was shot and slightly wounded last night in what police described as "an apparent attempt at assassination."

The 65-year-old Costello was fired on almost point-blank by a gunman as he entered the lobby of his Central Park West apartment house.

After the gunshot nicked his scalp, Costello—often called the "No. 1 mystery man" of the American underworld and political scene—cried in his raspy voice:

"Somebody tried to get me." Struck Near Left Ear

The bullet struck Costello near the left ear, furrowed under the scalp partway around the back of the head and emerged close to the right ear. Later, in the apartment house lobby, police found what appeared to be a flattened .32-caliber bullet.

Later Costello told newsmen: "I don't know why I was shot. I must have been mistaken for somebody else. I'm glad it wasn't any worse."

Blood flowing from his wound, Costello was taken by taxicab to nearby Roosevelt Hospital, where X-rays disclosed no damage to the skull. Treated for the superficial wound, he then was escorted to a police station for questioning.

The shooting occurred about 11 p. m. shortly after Costello arrived by car at his apartment residence accompanied by William Kennedy, a theatrical agent.

The pair had just left Costello's wife Estelle and Genorosa Pope, owner of an Italian-language newspaper, at an upper East Side restaurant.

Pete Keith, doorman of the plush apartment house, said Costello was just leaving Kennedy and entering the building when a black sedan stopped at the curb. Keith said a heavy-set man about six feet tall rushed by him and into the lobby.

The gunman fired while about 15 feet from Costello, the doorman said, then dashed past him to the black sedan, which raced from the scene.

Costello testified in 1951 during televised hearings of the Senate Crime Committee headed by Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.).

On the stand, he admitted in his gravelly voice—caused by a throat ailment—that he had been a gambler and bootlegger, but said that in recent years he had been a retired "investor."

He was powerful in prohibition-era rum running, and assertedly in New York politics. Some have termed him the former "slot machine king."

Peace Pleas By Kremlin Draw Blast

German Minister Asks Backing On Move For Reunification

By ARTHUR GAYSHON
BONN, Germany (U)—Secretary of State Dulles called on Russia today to end the division of Germany "before its injustices become intolerable."

Dulles told the North Atlantic Council of Foreign Ministers the Soviet Union's protestations of peace "indeed ring hollow when they forcibly divide a great people."

He said that both on humanitarian and legal grounds the continued split of the country could not be justified.

The American statesman spoke after West German Foreign Minister Heinrich von Brentano called upon the 15-nation alliance to support his government's demands for reunification quickly.

Support Adenauer
Brentano's statement was, in part, an effort to bolster Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's political stock for general elections coming up in September.

Von Brentano told the ministers the leaders of the Federal German Republic are doing all they can to insure that the Red-led people of East Germany take no "imprudent actions" which could only aggravate their misery and lead to terrorism.

"But there are situations in which the suffering," he said, "caused by oppression, and where the moral and material misery reach limits where reason no longer dictate action and where desperation and a just anger break out with the violence of a volcanic eruption."

The opposition Socialists are pressing Adenauer's Christian Democratic forces hard, contending that West German membership in NATO and Adenauer's plans to acquire nuclear arms are the chief obstacle to Soviet agreement to the reunification of West and East Germany. Adenauer very much wants a new Western proposal with which to counter the Socialist argument.

Whatever is decided at today's third session of the North Atlantic Council is likely to remain secret, for a time at least. Informants said the talks would be more "fruitful outside the public forum."

U. S. Stand Backed
Following their meeting yesterday, the ministers let it be known they are backing the United States in its efforts to block any further Soviet penetration of the Middle East.

Informants said Secretary of State Dulles emphasized at a secret NATO foreign ministers' session the U. S. determination to prevent further spread of Soviet influence in the troubled area.

Dulles claimed the show of force by the U. S. 6th Fleet in the eastern Mediterranean saved restive Jordan from falling into Moscow's hands.

House Group Rejects Plan On Insurance

Flood Protection Program Blocked With Fund Denied

WASHINGTON (U)—The House Appropriations Committee refused today to approve a $30 million dollar allotment to finance the federal flood insurance program approved at the last session of Congress.

The committee's action was taken in approving an omnibus appropriation bill allotting a total of $79,840,788 to miscellaneous agencies, mainly for use during the remaining two months of the present fiscal year.

Less Than He Asked
This was $70,641,875 less than President Eisenhower requested, the 46 per cent cut boosting to $1,263,457,124 the total reductions made by the committee or the House on 11 money bills this year.

Based on total requests for $15,555,645,556 to date, the over-all cut is 8.1 per cent.

The Senate has not yet acted on any of the regular appropriations bills.

In turning down the $30 million dollar allotment, the committee recommended instead that the agency administering the flood insurance program use $275,000 it now has for further study to develop "a more workable plan."

The plan presented, it said, "is too indefinite and costly."

Yet Benefits Approved
The Eisenhower administration's request for an initial $50 million, the committee said, is the first step in committing the taxpayers to a costly program.

It approved $6 million for veterans readjustment benefits, $150,000 to erect crypts and arrange for interment of Unknown Soldiers of World War II and the Korean War in Arlington Cemetery next year.

James Dean Fan Plunges Into Sea But Is Rescued

MENTON, France (U)—Clairette Pinacon, 14, threw herself into the Mediterranean sea last night. A locket containing a picture of deceased American movie star James Dean hung around her neck.

Beside her clothes on Menton Beach police found this note to her parents: "He is my idol. He is dead. I must die, too."

Fishermen pulled her out of the sea and brought her ashore. Hospital authorities said she probably would be sent home today.

Clerk Says Former Husband Forced Her To Dig 'Grave'

MOBILE, Ala. (U)—A pretty, 19-year-old drugstore clerk testified in Recorder's Court that her former husband forced her at gunpoint to dig her own "grave" in the nude and also made her fight his present wife.

Leon McIntyre, 24, accused of assault and battery against dark-haired Martine Tankersley, denied the charges. Miss Tankersley testified yesterday that she divorced the defendant recently to end a three-year marriage.

She said McIntyre got her at her trailer home last Friday, took her to a night club, and there coerced her into fighting the present Mrs. McIntyre.

Friends, Foes Shocked

Death Of M'Carthy Hikes Demos' Edge

(Picture on Page 2)
WASHINGTON (U)—A turbulent chapter in American history has closed with the death of Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy of Wisconsin—admired by some as an anti-Communist patriot, but denounced by others as a witch-hunter.

McCarthy died late yesterday five days after he entered the naval hospital in nearby Bethesda, Md. He was 47.

The Wisconsin Republican's death reduces to 46 the number of GOP senators. There are 49 Democrats. His successor probably will be chosen in a special election this fall.

For a time in the early 1950s, McCarthy was a dominant figure whose searches for Communists in government and elsewhere aroused bitter controversy. His influence was felt far and wide.

Three years ago, he reached his peak in a battle with the Army, which he charged was trying to hinder his hunt for subversives. The Army accused McCarthy of browbeating some of its officers called before his Senate investigations subcommittee.

Millions of Americans sat in on the ensuing Senate investigation of the Army-McCarthy row, through the medium of television and radio.

Growing out of that investigation was a Senate probe of his conduct and a censure vote against him. That was the beginning of his eclipse.

By the time of his death, he had become just another senator. In his heyday, McCarthy tangled with other senators and with two presidents—Dwight D. Eisenhower and Harry S. Truman.

But yesterday these old feuds went unmentioned as erstwhile foes and friends alike voiced regret at his death and praised him as a "fighting patriot."

Naval Force Pulled Back

WASHINGTON (U)—The Navy announced today that the major fighting ships of the 6th Fleet are moving out of the eastern Mediterranean where they were rushed during the Jordan crisis last week.

It said they are returning to the central Mediterranean area to take part in previously scheduled North Atlantic Treaty Organization naval exercises.

Ambitious elements of the fleet, including a reinforced Marine Corps battalion of 1,800 men, will remain in the eastern Mediterranean with a number of escorting ships.

"I don't have anything against that girl, and I don't suppose she has anything against me," Miss Tankersley testified. "I did not want to fight. But he hit me and kicked me, so she and I started fighting."

Miss Tankersley said McIntyre later struck his wife and knocked her unconscious. "Then he poured beer on her to revive her," she said.

She said McIntyre came into a night club where she was sitting the following night and forced her to go with him to a country road south of Mobile, pointed a shotgun at her and forced her to take off all her clothes.

Drivers Balk At Pay Boost

SYDNEY, Australia (U)—About 150 drivers for a sugar refinery struck today because the company insists on giving them more money for faster work. They said the incentive payment plan is causing trouble in their ranks.

Six months ago the drivers' union accepted the incentive plan on a trial basis.

West Europe Press Blasts Dead Senator

LONDON (U)—Western Europe's newspapers shed no tear today for Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy. The death of the Wisconsin senator renewed the dormant passions that once surged around his name.

British papers nearly all gave the story prominent front-page space and carried bitter editorials on "McCarthyism."

The reports in France were brief. But all papers referred to McCarthy as "the witch hunter."

"Inquisition" also was used in London's conservative Daily Telegraph.

The pro-Communist Paris Liberation called the senator "the leader of frantic anti-Communism and the grand master of witch hunting."

The death occurred too late for Italian editorial writers to prepare articles, but front pages in Rome gave the news large coverage.

Austrian papers announced the death with such headlines as "Snooper Sen. McCarthy Dies."

The liberal Dagbladet in Oslo said "McCarthy died a forsaken man."

Autopsy Set After Man Found Dead In Delaware

WOODLAND BEACH, Del. (U)—An autopsy was scheduled today on the body of a man found yesterday on a Delaware River beach about five miles south of there.

State police said the body had been identified as that of William James Oliver of Burden Hills, N.J. They said he had been reported missing since March 15.

These employees might receive secondary exposure to radiation, and we wish to avoid any hysteria on the part of the public."

The AEC said that the company reported the laboratory was severely contaminated March 13 when irradiated pellets of a mixture of compressed iridium 192 and aluminum metal powder were broken while being removed from cans. The laboratory was closed, but is expected to open in two weeks.

Truman Hits Republicans' Power Policy

WASHINGTON (U)—Harry S. Truman lit into the administration's Hells Canyon power program today as an "outrageous" giveaway that "would plunder the great natural resources that belong to the people of this country."

"This," the former president said, "may very well turn out to be another time when they are trying to make off with more than they can get away with."

Truman's remarks were prepared for a breakfast sponsored by the Electric Consumers Information Committee, an organization set up by a group of labor and farm groups and cooperatives.

Truman is in town for a Democratic party rally which will cast him in the role of a principal speaker at a $100-a-plate dinner tomorrow night.

He said there are those who complain the administration is "wishy-washy and fuzzy-minded and drifts along before the shifting winds of popular opinion."

Tokyo Delivery Boy Starts Fire In Nippon Palace

TOKYO (U)—News got out today that a teen-age boy making a liquor delivery to the imperial palace two months ago tried to set the place afire.

It was the first time on record that any Japanese had sought to do harm to Emperor Hirohito's home. Police hushed the case up until now.

The boy set fire to a two-story building used for storage of furniture. A palace spokesman said the interior was badly damaged, but that the flames did not threaten the imperial residence some distance away.

NEW YORK (U)—Roy M. Cohn, chief counsel of the Senate investigations subcommittee when Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy served as chairman, described the death of the Wisconsin lawmaker last night as "a great personal shock."

NEW YORK (U)—The stock market renewed its assault on the 1957 high today in lively early trading.

Six Railroad Lines Granted Hike In Fares

WASHINGTON (U)—The Interstate Commerce Commission today authorized six large Eastern railroads to increase first-class passenger fares again by about 15 per cent.

This gives them an over-all increase of 20 per cent above the fare levels of Jan. 1.

The authority to raise fares was issued to the Chesapeake & Ohio, New York Central, Norfolk & Western, Pennsylvania, Pennsylvania-Reading Seashore Lines, and Pittsburgh & Lake Erie.

The commission announced originally that the same authority had been granted to two other lines, the Lehigh Valley and the Reading Railroad, but 15 minutes later it said those two were not included.

The increase may be made effective after five days' notice to the traveling public.

These six and other Eastern railroads were granted authority at the beginning of the year to increase their passenger fares, both coach and first-class, by 5 per cent effective Jan. 9. This increase was granted on an interim basis, but was made permanent by today's order.

The six railroads granted a 15 per cent advance for travel in sleeping and parlor cars today had originally asked for a 45 per cent increase in the first-class rates, but limited their coach hike request to 5 per cent.

Coal Production Decrease Listed

WASHINGTON (U)—The National Coal Assn. said today bituminous production for the week ended April 27 totaled about 9,995,000 tons against 10,200,000 tons in the period ended April 20.

Output for the corresponding week in 1956 was 10,037,000 tons. Production Jan. 1 through April 27 was estimated at about 364,584,000 tons, under the 168,917,000 ton production for the Jan. 1-April 28, 1956 period.

AMA Head Gives Warning Of Federal 'Interference'

BALTIMORE (U)—The president of the American Medical Assn. has predicted further "interference" by the federal government on the private practice of medicine.

The AMA leader, Dr. Dwight H. Murray, in a speech here last night warned doctors that apathy to "encroachments" by the federal government "can be detrimental to the entire profession."

He appealed to every doctor to expend his efforts to help "resolve our socio-economic problems."

Dr. Murray spoke at a dinner of the Maryland Medical and Surgical Association.

Raging River Poses Menace In Texas City

By The Associated Press
One of the worst floods in seven years threatened Wichita Falls, Tex., today after more heavy rain fell in the storm-stricken and water-soaked north central part of the state.

Although rain diminished in the Wichita Falls area, the Wichita River and Holiday Creek running through the city of 125,000 near the Oklahoma border rose steadily. Red Cross emergency crews were alerted.

Heavy rain also hit areas along the surging Sabine River in the southeast part of Texas.

Although streams in most other areas appeared receding after more than two weeks of downpours, the Sabine River threatened to flood DeWeyville, a town of 1,000 near Orange. Meanwhile, upstream on the Sabine, hundreds of oil wells remained closed by overflows in the Gladwater area.

The persistent Gulf Coast disturbance and moist Gulf air brought rain during the night over much of the central and southern plains and the Southeast states.

Heaviest amounts were in Oklahoma and Kansas. Scattered thunderstorms rumbled across central parts of Texas eastward along the Gulf Coast and into Florida.

Mostly fair and much cooler weather prevailed in the Northeast quarter of the country.

Red Navy Opens Maneuvers Near Murmansk Area

OSLO (U)—The Oslo newspaper Aftenposten said today Norwegian whalers have reported big Russian naval maneuvers off the coast of Murmansk.

Norwegian military authorities refused to comment officially, but indicated the reports were correct.

The Aftenposten quoted one whaling captain as saying "the maneuvers were going full steam" when his vessel arrived off Murmansk April 10. Ships and planes "seemed to be everywhere," he said.

Dr. Murray spoke at a dinner of the Maryland Medical and Surgical Association.

After his speech, Dr. Murray explained that the government activities he had discussed represented a movement in the direction of socialized medicine.

In his speech he said that "285 bills with primary medical implications have been introduced" during the first three months of the Eighty-fifth Congress. He said that this number was already more than the 220 bills introduced during the entire Eightieth Congress.

In this trend toward more and more medical bills, Dr. Murray saw "ultimately, a full-fledged system of government health insurance."

Beck Indicted By U. S. Jury In Tax Dodge

Teamsters' Boss Faces Charge Of Evading $56,240

WASHINGTON (AP) — Teamsters' Union President Dave Beck surrendered today on an indictment accusing him of income tax evasion.

The U. S. marshal's office said Beck came in voluntarily for the technical surrender, making it unnecessary for marshals to seek him out on telegraphic word from Tacoma, Wash. that he had been indicted.

Beck was taken to the cell block in the basement of the Federal Courthouse and fingerprinted in the routine given all persons under indictment.

After this, Beck was to be taken before District Judge Edward M. Curran for the setting of bond for his appearance in Tacoma to answer to the indictment.

The indictment returned against Beck at Tacoma accused him of evading more than $56,000 in income taxes in 1950.

The first count accused him of failing to pay $36,420 in taxes on $63,828 of unreported 1950 income.

It says Beck and his wife declared a taxable income of $46,298 and paid $15,840 that year. Instead, it said, they should have paid $71,960 on $135,228 income.

Ironically, a delay by Beck in filing his income tax return that year made it possible to bring the indictment within the time allowed by the statute of limitations. The time would have expired March 15 if he had filed his return before the regulation deadline in 1951.

The second indictment accused Beck of assisting in the preparation of a false return which said the Teamsters' Joint Council No. 28 Building Assn. in Seattle had expended $16,718 in 1950 for building payments and alterations.

The actual amount expended, the indictment charges, actually was known by Beck to be substantially less.

Each of the counts carries a maximum sentence of five years imprisonment and a $10,000 fine. Judge George H. Boldt ordered a bench warrant issued and bail set at $5,000.

The warrant was telegraphed to Washington, D. C., where Beck is awaiting a second appearance before the Senate Rackels Committee.

In Washington, a union spokesman said Beck declined to comment at this time.

Cagney Leads Winchester's Grand Parade

WINCHESTER, Va. (AP) — Movie star James Cagney today joined English-born Queen Shenandoah XXX for the final activity of the 30th Shenandoah Apple Blossom Festival.

Cagney will serve as grand marshal of the festival's feature parade.

Before that, Cagney was scheduled to be presented at the Handley High School Bowl following the second presentation of the festival pageant "In All Generations."

Queen Shenandoah, 19-year-old Anne Denise Dougherty-Tichenor of Winchester, England, yesterday watched the two-hour firemen's parade of almost 200 units following her coronation.

Later she and her two maids of honor and the 32 princesses were guests at the Queen's Ball which wound up the festival's opening day.

Convict Climbs Smokestack At Baltimore 'Pen'

BALTIMORE (AP) — A man serving a life sentence climbed 100 feet up a prison smokestack scaffolding today and the warden said he could sit there until he gets hungry enough to come down.

Robert Smith, 42-year-old Negro serving life for rape, had caused trouble before at the Maryland Penitentiary.

In January, 1956, he climbed to the top of a 50-foot high cellhouse window. Tear gas fired in an effort to dislodge him drifted into a cell block and touched off a demonstration by 150 other convicts.

Democrats Map Campaign Plans

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats, feeling rather chipper over recent state election victories but still beset with factional troubles, start a three-day meeting today to plan for the 1958 campaign.

Nine state governors will take part along with other state and national party leaders.

They plan a $100-a-plate fundraising banquet tomorrow night in hopes of raising nearly half of the national organizations $400,000 deficit. Former President Truman and Adlai Stevenson will address the dinner, at which more than 1,500 paying guests are expected.

Churchill Raps Attitude Of UN

LONDON (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill criticized the United Nations today for its attitude toward the British-French attack on Egypt last fall. He said the U. N. had not helped either the free world or the cause of peace.

The 82-year-old former prime minister addressed the Primrose League, made up mostly of Conservatives, at Royal Albert Hall. It was his first public address in a year.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Wilson, who doesn't mince words, says "it gives me a pain" to hear the U. S. Chamber of Commerce "squawk so much" about the size of the federal budget.

Philip M. Talbot, Chamber president, retorted yesterday that "Secretary Wilson's 'pains' do not refute our findings" that the 38-billion-dollar defense budget can be cut.

Wilson's somewhat heated comments came in a news conference yesterday after a question about Chamber complaints of wasteful duplication in military spending.

Wilson said his department is trying hard to control spending. "The only way we can carry out our program for less money is if we all get smarter. I don't know how to do that real quick. We work at it."

Gathering steam as he rushed along, Wilson declared:

"My friends in the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, they represent some of the richest people in this country and they have never been more prosperous and for them to squawk so much about the budget gives me a pain."

"I am disgusted," said Wilson, a former head of the giant General Motors Corp. "Security can't be cheap, you know."

In reply, Talbot issued a statement saying the Chamber believes 1½ billion dollars can be whacked from the 1958 defense budget "without in any way impairing our national security."

"I wish the secretary's statement about the comparative wealth of the Chamber membership were true but our members are not all rich," he said. "Many of them are having a difficult time making any profits at all in the face of high taxes."

Wilson told his conference high costs have resulted from pay increases, rising steel prices and 500 million dollars which Congress added to the Air Force budget last year.

He mentioned a reduction of overtime pay on military contracts as one of the things being done to hold spending down.

The Air Force announced yesterday it has ordered a sharp cut in overtime pay on all its projects except ballistic missiles.

The foreign ministers studied a confidential assessment of the whole Middle East picture, drawn up by NATO political experts, who concluded that the Soviet Union as yet has no Middle Eastern ally which can be classified as a full-fledged satellite.

Informants said Turkish Delegate Muharrem Nuri Birgi dissented, citing both Egypt and Syria.

The 15 NATO foreign ministers agreed that the alliance must base its defense on a balance between conventional and nuclear weapons.

The pattern running through the opening round of ministers' speeches yesterday showed that the Allies intend to stand firm and unshaken against Russia's latest diplomatic offensive in Europe.

Children Build Up Polio Immunity Just By Getting Dirty While At Play

By HARRY TRIMBORN

NEW ORLEANS (INS) — The next time Junior comes home looking like he fell into a pigpen, go easy with the scolding. He may be building up an immunity to infantile paralysis.

Adults who have led comparatively unhygienic lives are less susceptible to polio than the fellow who has always been as clean as the proverbial whistle, a New Orleans doctor said.

"This may seem like a paradox," explained Dr. Henry M. Gelfand, a Tulane University scientist. "But a four-year study in rural and urban centers convinces us that it is unmistakably true."

The assistant professor of epidemiology explained in an interview that infection with polio virus among children is fairly common. But, he added:

"For some reason, which we are not entirely sure of, all children who become infected do not become ill. In fact, polio deaths among children are very rare. It is adults who suffer most from the crippling effects of the disease."

Gelfand maintains one reason for this is because a child's antibodies can successfully cope with the virus, but as he gets older, his body becomes progressively less able to combat the disease.

The doctor believes there is a positive aspect to infection at an early age because it allows the child to build up an immunity to polio which in many cases may last a lifetime.

With steadily increasing standards of sanitation in this country, Dr. Gelfand points out, polio strikes people later in life.

"In fact," he added, "the label 'infantile paralysis' is misleading nowadays because it is adults—not children—who are more apt to suffer the unhappy consequences of polio infection."

Dr. Gelfand observed:

"A child brought up in relatively unsanitary surroundings has greater 'opportunity' of contracting the polio virus. Chances are he will pick it up in ordinary play activities or have it passed on to him by a playmate."

"The youngster who is always kept spic and span misses this 'opportunity' when he grows up and is more vulnerable to polio."

aguous fighter... man of strong convictions... fine fellow."

Eisenhower, who had omitted McCarthy from the White House social list in recent years, expressed his "profound sympathy" for the senator's widow, Truman, who once referred to McCarthy as a pathological case, said in New York he was "very sorry" to learn of the senator's death.

Acute hepatitis—the illness that killed McCarthy—was the last of a series of ailments that dogged him during the past few years. He had been hospitalized from time to time for sinus, bursts, a nagging old knee injury and a rupture in his midsection.

A naval hospital statement last night said McCarthy had been ill at home for several weeks before he was admitted last Sunday.

"He was considered seriously ill at the time of his admission and his condition progressively failed," the statement said.

McCarthy, sinking rapidly, was given the last rites of the Roman Catholic Church an hour before his death at 5:02 p.m.

His wife Jean was at his bedside.

The senator also leaves an infant daughter the McCarthys adopted early this year.

The Republican most prominently mentioned as a possible candidate in a special election for McCarthy's seat is Walter J. Kohler, 53, three times governor of the state.

Heading the list of Democratic prospects were State Senators Henry W. Maier, 39, Milwaukee, unsuccessful Democratic Senate nominee last year against Sen. Wiley (R-Wis.) and Gaylord Nelson, 40, Madison; and William Proxmire, Madison, three times an unsuccessful candidate for governor.

McCarthy, one of seven children, was born in Grande Chute, Wis., Nov. 14, 1909. As a youth, he worked on his father's farm and in a country store.

Soon after finishing law school at Marquette University, he made his first try for public office—as a Democrat. That was in 1936 when he ran for district attorney of Shawano County and lost.

Three years later, he won election as a circuit judge, running as a nonpartisan. In 1941, the Wisconsin Supreme Court criticized him for what it called "abuse of judicial power" in ordering destruction of part of the record in a marketing case.

Border Town Reported Held By Nicaragua

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — President Luis Somoza told a cheering throng last night a tiny Nicaraguan force had wrested the border town of Mocoron from a Honduran garrison five times its size.

As the crowd exulted, the President's brother, Gen. Anastasio Somoza Jr., shouted that the Nicaraguan flag is flying over the Indian settlement on Central America's Caribbean coast. The two countries have disputed the border for years.

Nicaraguan and Honduran accounts of the border dispute varied. Each country insisted that Mocoron was traditionally theirs. A Nicaraguan national guard unit reportedly occupied the town two weeks ago and Honduran troops took it back Wednesday.

Red China Trade

FOR A GOOD MANY months some of America's allies, most particularly Britain and Japan, have been stepping up their trade with Red China in quiet defiance of established embargo on shipment of key materials. Our government does not approve of this development, and for itself will not relax in any degree its ban on Red China trade. We still view the Communist Chinese as a dangerous potential adversary who has engaged in an illegal arms buildup in North Korea in violation of truce terms and poses a continuing threat to Formosa and other islands off the China coast. Nevertheless, the administration decided not long ago that it would give its official sanction to an increase in trade between China and such other nations as Britain and Japan. What this decision amounts to is acceptance of an existing fact.

WASHINGTON fears that if sanction should be withheld, the trade would go on increasing anyway, to a point where the embargo agreement is to all intents and purposes a dead letter. Thus it has moved to recognize certain realities, while still maintaining a measure of control in a difficult situation. Why have our allies revived the China trade even though they know it is against the wishes of the United States, the paramount Western power in the Pacific? As far as Britain and Japan go, the fundamental reason is that they believe they need it. Oriental commerce always has bulked large in the British trade picture, and they have chafed under embargo restrictions. Japan is a growing storehouse of manufactured products desperately seeking markets.

NEITHER these two lands nor some others see Red China as the menace America does. They feel the Chinese are as eager as they for some kind of "normal" trade, and that encouraging it may actually serve to promote more peaceful attitudes in the Peiping government. There is reason to believe, too, that Britain departed from America's lead in the Far East because we had failed to follow British leadership at the time of the Suez crisis. But whatever the reasons, a new situation is clearly upon us. More trade between Red China and our allies is building and will continue to build. Evidently all we can do is try to keep it within some bounds which will at least go part way toward safeguarding our strategic interests in the Pacific.

Dulles Not Off Hook

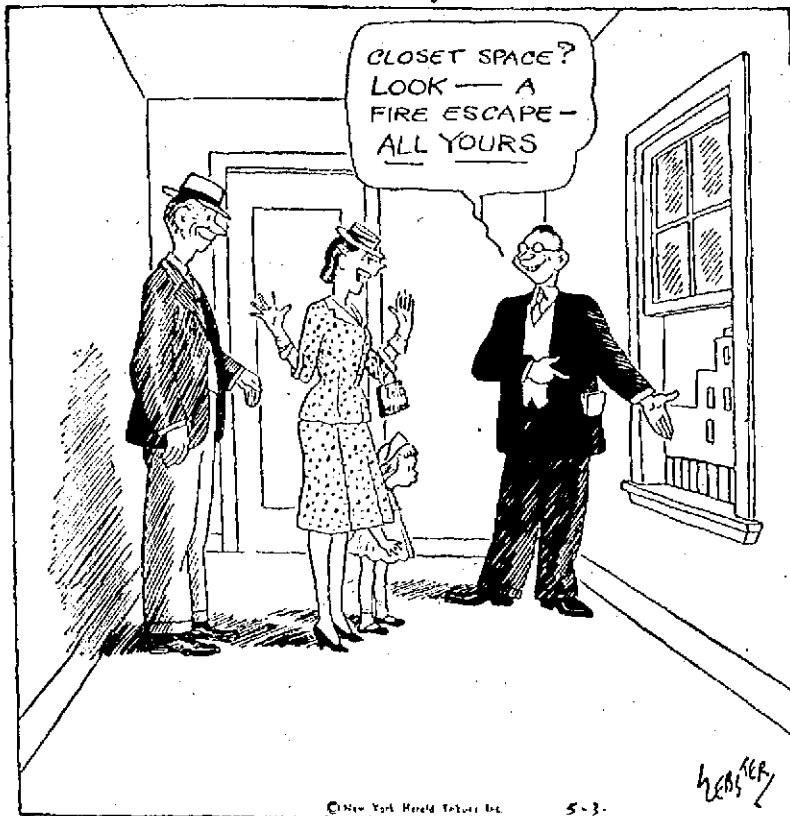

IN BACKING down somewhat on his ban on U. S. newsmen going to Red China, Secretary of State Dulles did not exhibit much grace or, for that matter, logic. He said a "limited number" of reporters would be allowed to enter mainland China, but he chided the nation's newspapers for not coming up with any good ideas as to how a selected few might be chosen. There seems to be no reason in the world why the country's publishers and editors should assist Dulles to this extent. The evidence suggests that he is trying to get off an unpopular, weakly held position, namely, the Red China ban, and the shift to a "limited number" is simply a face-saving device. It seems to say that a "partial clearing" of the conditions that required the ban has now occurred. In fact there are about as many reasons as there were when it was first imposed. There is no particular logic in letting a few newsmen enter China, hence no especially sensible way for either Dulles himself or the newspapers to choose candidates. By his present proposal the secretary now has conceded his original position was untenable. The only sane thing to do is to go whole hog and remove all restrictions on American news coverage in Red China.

Who, Me?

AN IRRITATED individual caught in traffic congestion during a blinding snow storm in a Midwestern city declared this community surely must have the "stupidest drivers" in the country. The same opinion doubtless has been voiced in virtually every American city during traffic jams, and strangely enough by drivers who did not include themselves in the stupidity category.

Byrd Plans Probe Of Ike's Fiscal Policy

WASHINGTON — From what Democrats regard as perhaps their most conservative Southern figure, namely Senator Harry Flood Byrd of Virginia, they are likely to get in this session of Congress the most vivid dramatization of perhaps their most telling issue against the Eisenhower Administration.

This is its solicitude for big business and big finance.

You may remember that it was Senator Byrd who, at the very outset of this administration, helped to pin on it the label of big business. Single-handed he made the case that forced Charles E. Wilson to sell his stock in General Motors, of which he had been president, before he was confirmed as Secretary of Defense.

In the course of the inquiry, the wealth of Charles E. Wilson, along with that of other multimillionaires named for the Eisenhower Cabinet, was placed on the public record for all to see.

IN THE NEAR future Senator Byrd is beginning an investigation by the Senate Finance Committee, of which he is chairman, into fiscal policies of the Eisenhower Administration. That will reveal the handsome profits by bankers, and the hardship to small business, from the "hard money" policy of this administration with its high rates of interest.

Now this week we saw the conservative Virginian standing in the Senate alongside a colleague who is at the other end of the Democratic party—Senator Wayne Morse of Oregon.

Joining with the Oregon Senator, he denounced as "utterly indefensible" the approval by the Office of Defense Mobilization of a quick tax write-off for the Idaho Power Company, of Augusta, Maine, of approximately 62½ percent of the $103,000,000 estimated cost of two dams at Hell's Canyon, which is not in Maine but in the Snake River along the Oregon-Idaho boundary.

SENATOR Byrd took occasion to demand an end to the quick amortization law, for repeal of which he has a bill upon which the Finance Committee began hearings yesterday.

The law was enacted originally to induce industry to expand plant capacity and build new plants for our defense program in World War II and was revived for the Korean War which, Senator Byrd pointed out, came to an end over three years ago.

Why Senator Byrd takes the position he has on this tax easement for a big private utility, and on fiscal policy which is pleasing to bankers and on such industrial titans as Charlie Wilson seems to puzzle some who look upon him as the essence of conservatism. However, his attitude is surprising only until you fit him into his Southern agrarian background.

That is characterized generally by suspicion of America's modern "nouveau riche"—the big industrialists—by the Southern agriculturalist to which class Senator Byrd belongs as well as suspicion and distrust, from long experience, of New York bankers and financiers who are lumped together in the symbol "Wall Street."

Government favors through such devices as the quick tax write-off are just as distasteful to the Byrd philosophy as the extension of government into the fields of social and economic welfare.

PERHAPS it helps to get the picture if you remember that another Virginian—the late Senator Carter Glass—found his chief claim to fame in his sponsorship of the Federal Reserve System that decentralized credit and its control and took it away from Wall Street, so that credit was easier for farmers and small businessmen than predominant in the Southern economy.

You may recall, too, that two years before the 1929 stock market crash Senator Glass delivered a tirade against New York bankers and their part in the frenzied speculation of that day and forecast the collapse which was not long in coming.

SENATOR Byrd has been demanding an end to the quick amortization system for a long time. Last December, in a letter to the Senate submitting a report from the staff of his committee, he said the quick tax write-off "makes it more difficult to balance the budget or reduce the tax burden of taxpayers not receiving such a benefit."

The write-off in five years of 20 percent a year, which is the method, represents a saving in taxes for the five years which, in the case of Idaho Power, was estimated at $29,250,000 by Senator Morse.

He quoted the Federal Power Commission which described the quick tax write-off process as having "the precise effect of a grant by our government to a certificate holder of an interest-free loan."

Mrs. Wilson Cannot See Guided Missiles

WASHINGTON —(NEA)—Mrs. Charles Wilson, colorful wife of the colorful secretary of defense, is coming up with the best lines at parties these days.

Other afternoon at a big reception a friend asked her if she planned to accompany her husband on his trip to Patrick Air Force Base in Florida to watch them fire some new guided missiles.

At least four of the Pentagon's top missile experts were in the circle listening to her talk.

"Dear me, no," she said, "it would be a waste of time because everyone knows that those missiles never work."

HURRAH for the Ft. Myer officers' club. It came up with some new ideas in food at a big reception the other afternoon thrown by Secretary of the Army Wilbur Brucker.

In the first place, the genius who arranged the food placed it on a dozen small tables all over the ballroom to prevent the big jam which always takes place when there is only one food table.

Then there were such interesting items as gigantic bowls of freshly shucked oysters to be gipped in hot sauce, raw hamburger mixed with onions and delicious spices, all sorts of rare cheeses, the best artichokes ever served in this town and all the rare roast beef any guest could eat.

Serving food like this keeps the alcohol consumption down.

SINCE VICE President Nixon moved to the relatively fashionable Wesley Heights suburb it has become ultrafashionable.

Real estate men with property in the area of the VP's new home report that they haven't seen such a boom since just after the war. Everybody wants to be Nixon's neighbor, it appears.

The value of property has skyrocketed in direct proportion to its closeness to the Nixon home. Conversely, the neighborhood he left has sagged in value, the realtors report.

RESIGNING Deputy Secretary of Defense Reuben Robertson is leaving behind a red-hot protocol controversy which he created at a recent party in his honor.

Glancing Sideways

NEW YORK—Although I am not a conspicuous or even consistent wearer of the old school tie, it is impossible for me to get within 75 miles of the University of Virginia without going there and once again walking its beautiful campus.

Its beautiful campus is straining at the seams a little and some fairly odd buildings are going up on and nearby it in what is not exactly the Thomas Jefferson tradition of architecture, but generally speaking it is a campus without peer and, in many respects, a campus without equal.

These would be the areas designed, supervised and hovered over by T. Jefferson in person. He used to come storming down from nearby Monticello when his spy-glass revealed a work crew violating his construction dictates.

WHEN I WENT there to try and soak up a little learning, a period that only seems to match the era of the Lincoln-Douglas debates, it was a divided but scholarly university. It was divided between toss-ups from Eastern colleges and young gentlemen from the South who went there to work, study and acquire cultivation.

The less-sons came down in glossy Mercer roadsters, with Frank Brothers shoes on their feet and Brooks Brothers clothes on their backs and they had a sort of carnival air about them. But something about this shaded, brick and wholly wondrous campus worked a miracle and within 60 days they were as studious as anyone else.

There were mocking students from nearby and not nearly so traditional colleges who liked to call it "a country club," but it wasn't. An uncommon lot of fine scholars and professional men have been graduated from Virginia.

WHAT ALL this is leading to, in a gradual and amiable sort of way, is that in those days Virginia was noted as a gentleman's university. No one ever cheated, lied or stole. It had a classical tradition both in its studies and in its morals.

Students were on an honor system and they not only respected it but took enormous pride in it. Item: no student attending a dance at night ever took a drink, not even a sip, after 12 o'clock noon of the day of the dance. You might get yourself stoned between 4 a. m. and noon, but at noon you quit.

It had magnificent courses in medicine, architecture, the arts and classic academics. No one ever failed or spun. They just studied. And now, it is announced, this Athens of learning has installed a "Short Course in Concrete Mixing."

NATURALLY, this is a bizarre day in the life of anyone who ever studied at Charlottesville. Concrete mixing, in these days, was something that people did who had to work for a living and who didn't intend to or have the brains to become philosophers, doctors and architects.

Reasonably enough, an architectural major had to know something about concrete mixing, else his buildings would have fallen down. But my memory is that the formulae and methods for this task came out of books and not from standing alongside a mixer and pouring the ingredients into it.

WE USED TO, as young men with books under our arms, see concrete mixing take place every now and then. The University was always building chaste brick walls and structures, unalterably in the Jeffersonian tradition, and these required concrete and mortar in varying mixtures and quantities.

But, except for these occasional intrusions by put-putting mixers and the overworked men who fed and operated them, ours was a true seat of defined learning. It wasn't that we were stuffy about it, we simply had a detached point of view. One either was a scholar or a laborer, I don't condone this point of view, I simply report it.

BUT NOW, times have changed. The fount of knowledge is becoming practical the hard way. It will teach American youth how to mix concrete. It says it will. It announces this Short Course in Concrete Mixing.

No one ever could speak for old Tom Jefferson when he was alive. He spoke for himself. But if his ghost ever wanders about Monticello up there on the hill and looks down with yearning at the university he founded and built, I dare to think that he smiles in approval when he sees the 10:07 morning class in concrete mixing out there trying to learn the techniques he himself knew so well. Well enough to stand and yell at careless workmen who didn't know.

Fasten Your Seat Belt

WASHINGTON—Now we've got a couple of cynical scientists blaming the female sex for so many people getting hurt in auto wrecks.

These experts (I bet their wives take care of them) told Congress that if everyone riding in automobiles strapped himself into a shoulder harness hitched solidly to the frame of the car, the average serious crash probably wouldn't even bruise him.

"But a woman strapped into such a harness gets a feeling of claustrophobia," said Dr. Edward R. Dye, director of safety design and development at the aeronautical laboratories of Cornell University. "And also the straps wrinkle up her beautiful dress."

SO DR. DYE and Dr. John O. Moore, director of the same university's automobile crash injury research, have lost hope of persuading the ladies to harness themselves into their automobiles.

If the women will have no part of such a scheme, mere men can't get far with it and the two does will be pleased if motorists of both sexes merely will wear lap belts.

These aren't as good as shoulder harness, but they help when the surrounding tinware goes car-r-r-unch.

THE INTERSTATE and Foreign Commerce Committee called in these two researchers into why people get mangled in motorcars to see what they thought of recent experiments indicating that in serious wrecks, seat belts are not much good.

Dr. Moore said the trouble was that these tests all involved strapping a dummy into an automobile and then letting the machine collide with a tree, or possibly a concrete wall at about 40 miles an hour. Such experiments always turned the dummy into sawdust.

He added that only 16 per cent of auto wrecks involve collision with an immovable object. The other 84 per cent of auto smash-ups would be much less serious, Dr. Moore said, if all hands wore belts.

REP. SAMUEL L. Friedel said he was convinced. He's got belts in his car.

"Well, I have seven children," said the slim, soft-voiced Dr. Moore, "and I have nine seat belts in my station wagon."

Dr. Dye said he had two cars, with belts in both of them. He

Douglas who attended the affair. "Didn't see the movie," Douglas replied, "but 80 days seems like an awful long time for the trip."

World traveler that he is, Douglas speaks with authority on this subject.

said he'd heard it was next to impossible to get a five-year-old squirming into a seat belt, but that he had discovered this merely was a matter of training.

Dr. Dye said the university now was designing a show car, with 15 safety features built in, to prove to the public that safety can be had in an automobile without sacrificing style.

"This is to counteract the impression that a truly safe automobile has got to be built like a 15-ton tank," he said.

THE DOCTORS agreed they were much worried about the 300-horsepower cars now on the road. The power of the new engines has been boosted enormously, they said, but somehow they haven't noticed the cars traveling any faster than before.

Dr. Moore said, in fact, that the top speed of a 1957 model with a super engine under the hood was only about two per cent higher than it was in the same model 15 years ago, when 100-horsepower cars were unusual. Neither did these experts believe Detroit should be condemned for not building better brakes.

Today's brakes, they said, are about as good as it is possible to make them. Build them a fraction more efficient and the wheels will start skidding on the street. Then you need a seat belt for sure.

(United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

Safety Car

DETROIT is forever turning out experimental cars. Usually they are longer, lower, faster, more daring in exterior design than anything yet seen on the highways. They are generally hailed as the car of the future, or the car of the day after the day after tomorrow, or something such.

Engineers at Cornell University's aeronautical laboratory also have designed an experimental car. It is somewhat different from the Detroit models. It is not longer, lower, faster, et cetera. But it is safer than anything now on the road. It is, in fact, a practical result of what has been learned from intensive study of how to reduce injury in automobile collisions.

In the Cornell safety auto, driver and passengers sit in bucket seats. All are equipped with safety belts, the driver's belt also doubling as a control panel. The car is equipped with accordion-type doors which bolt closed. Its ventilating system keeps inside air pressure slightly higher than outside to seal out carbon monoxide.

All instruments have automatic alarm lights, so that the driver need not pay any attention to them unless the lights flash on.

Reporter's Notebook

NEW YORK—Anthony T. Rossi who came here from Sicily in 1923 with nothing but a pocket full of dreams will sell in 1957 the juice from more oranges than there are people on earth.

How did he build a 25 million dollar Florida citrus empire that will market the contents of some 3½ billion oranges in a single year?

The big, ham-fisted, 56-year-old businessman—once was a private chauffeur, took like Jack Dempsey—summarized his fruitful career.

"We started this business with $30,000 and very little knowledge. But all my life I like to grow, to try to do something bigger than I have done before," he said, smiling.

Then Rossi, who neither smokes nor drinks and likes to open staff business meetings with a prayer, added in a voice curiously gentle for such a large man: "God has always guided me—told me what to do and when to do it. He has used me for his purpose."

ROSSI, WHO STANDS 6 feet 2 and weighs 225, was one of 10 children of a physician in Messina, Sicily. As a boy he was imaginative and adventuresome, and often ran away from home—so often that his despairing father even took to tying him in bed.

"I was never a juvenile delinquent, just a young rascal," he recalled. But when he was 15 his mother, dying, said she hated to go because she felt Anthony needed her. That changed her son overnight.

"From that moment on I was a good boy," he said.

In 1923 he came here, self-confident but nearly broke, planning to stay only a short time.

"But I found living in the United States the most exciting thing a man could do. I drove a taxi, installed refrigerating equipment, sold produce, worked as a private chauffeur, farmed for a while, finally bought the second self-service grocery store opened here."

In 1941 he moved to Florida, for a while operated the largest restaurant in Miami Beach, then in 1947 entered the venturesome citrus field.

In 1954 he decided the market was ripe for chilled carbonated orange juice, gambled by buying a million dollars worth of refrigerated trucks.

TODAY HIS FLEET of 150 trucks delivers citrus juice west to the Dakotas, north to Canada.

But his most daring idea was to cut costs by transporting bulk fruit juice to metropolitan areas by ship.

"When I first tried to borrow three million dollars for this project, I was told it was a crazy idea that would never work," he said.

But it did work. Humbly grateful for his success in his adopted land, Rossi has this to say about the United States:

"Our present prosperity is God's reward for using our power well. This country has been blessed, as other great countries in the past were blessed.

"They tell me this country responded to God's opportunities better than any previous country because it has used its strength to help the weaker nations, rather than to exploit them.

"We will endure as long as we refrain from abusing our power."

(Associated Press)

George Dixon

Washington Scene

WASHINGTON — Every United States Senator and Representative has sentenced himself to kitchen police. Each one of them sits spraddle-legged all day long paring the budget. Distinguished lawmakers, who wouldn't pare their own cuticle, slave happily from morn to night paring the substance from somebody else's apples.

There isn't one of them that doesn't want something cut, and the farther from home the better. But, conversely, there isn't one who isn't against some proposed cut for his district.

Every man has at least one charity—begins-at-home item he wants to salvage—and Senator George W. Malone, of Nevada, one of the leading cut-that-Eisenhower-budget Republicans, is no exception.

SENATOR MALONE is a mining engineer. He loves mines, mining, and minerals. You would have thought he'd had his diploma amputated when the House cut off an item of $9 million for the production of tungsten in Nevada.

He had planned to fly home to Reno for a few days, but when he heard about the unprincipled action of the lower House of Congress he arose on the Senate floor and demanded unlimited time. This he was granted automatically because, under rules which some hope to change, the only way you can stop a Senator from talking is to smother him in his tags.

The golden-tongued orator took an heroic posture and declaimed:

"The Senator from Nevada (a quaint reference to himself) had a reservation on a 5:30 plane home, but has cancelled it. He is ready to stay here until the snow is about 9 feet deep on Pennsylvania avenue."

NO SOONER HAD he conjured up this blizzardous picture than an unidentified colleague slipped from the chamber and raced to the small room containing the news ticker. He tore off a blank hunk of copy paper from the machine and squatted at a typewriter. Employing all the symbols and abbreviations used by the ticker service to make his effort look genuine, he typed out the following "Bulletin Flash":

"Washington—A freak snowstorm struck the nation's capital today, with drifts 10 feet high on Pennsylvania avenue."

The unidentified scallawag handed the fake bulletin to the Democratic Senator from Nevada, Alan Bible. Bible strode into the chamber and slapped it dramatically on Malone's desk.

The latter read it, goggled, and came apart at the seams. From there on he kept breaking into laughter. But he finally managed to get untangled in time to catch his plane without being forced to mush down Pennsylvania avenue behind a snow plow.

THE SAME Senatorial news ticker compounded an offense the other day. In a speech on irrigation, Senator Thomas H. Kuchel, of California, forensicated: "The water must not be turned off." The ticker, however, accidentally dropped out the "not."

A few minutes later it sought to redeem itself. It sent a correction restoring the "not," but stated that what Senator Kuchel was trying to give California was more "irritation."

Dinner Event Aboard Leyte Set In July

BALTIMORE (AP) — The U.S. Navy is planning to hold the fourth annual dinner on the carrier here. But it was discovered that the carrier would not clear the Chesapeake Bay Bridge. The Navy discarded plans to dismantle part of the radio antenna, saying it would be too expensive.

Then an attempt was made to bring a smaller vessel to Baltimore, but the Navy said none was available for the July date.

Finally, the Navy offered the present plan of anchoring the Leyte four miles off Annapolis and having the party there. The Navy is also providing launch service. The dinner will be held on either the night of July 20 or 21 and 1,600 persons are expected to attend. Of these, 800 will be civilians who will invite a member of the armed service to the dinner.

April Building Permits Total 50 In This County

Building permits issued by the Allegany County Assessing Department during April totaled 50 with an estimated total construction cost of $246,510.

The number of permits was the highest for the year but the total value was below January 1957 and April of last year. The January total was $2,054,550, including a proposed $2,000,000 shopping center. Last April the 37 permits authorized construction estimated to cost a total of $306,525.

Last month's $246,510 was higher than any month of 1956 other than April.

During the first four months of 1957, some 118 permits have been issued by the assessing department for construction outside the corporate limits of the cities and towns of Allegany County. The total estimated cost is $2,611,983. In 1956, the four-month total was 82 permits and $508,425. In the first four months of 1955 there also were 82 permits but the aggregate cost was only $390,500.

Thirty-seven of the permits concerned construction of dwellings. There were 27 new dwellings, one dwelling and garage, one dwelling and carport, one dwelling foundation, one dwelling remodeling, four additions to existing dwellings, a cabin and a summer cottage.

Other April permits included two chicken houses, one storeroom and apartment, one motel, one sawmill, one storage, one tool shed, one porch enclosure and five garages.

District 29 in LaVale again was the construction leader with eight permits but the building was authorized in 19 different election districts. Others with more than one April permit were District 26, Frostburg suburban area, five; Districts 6, West Side suburban area; District 16, North Branch; District 24, Eckhart; District 5, North End suburban area; District 21, Gross, and District 31, McCoolle, four permits each, and District 3, Flintstone, and District 20, Corriganville, two each.

Single April building permits were issued for work in District 19, Shaft; District 30, Zihlman; District 15, Lonaconing suburban; District 8, Westernport suburban; District 22, East Side suburban; District 7, Cresaptown; District 13, Mt. Savage; District 2, Oldtown, and District 1, Little Orleans.

1951 Class Will Hold Reunion

A reunion will be held August 10 at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club by the Allegany High School Class of 1951. A dinner and dance is planned by the class.

Questionnaires have been sent to all members of the class, and the committee has requested that these be returned immediately. The information is needed to complete an important part of the program and to compile requested suggestions for entertainment and activity.

Those working on the arrangements are Elizabeth McNabb, Drew, Jacqueline Breedlove, Helen Yoder Poe, Ann Rigglesman, and Lois Fisher Schaidt.

Buddha's Footprint

A depression atop a mountain in Ceylon is regarded by Buddhists as the footprint of Buddha, made when he stepped from earth to heaven. Moslems consider it made by Adam, who allegedly stood 100 years on one foot in penance for original sin.

Skeleton Find Proves Puzzle

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Authorities puzzling over the origin of several bones unearthed here have ruled it unlikely that the partial skeletons were the bodies of Indians or Revolutionary War soldiers.

The bones were discovered by workmen digging a trench while renovating the state heating plant on Bladen Street.

Professor Henry F. Sturdy of Annapolis, an authority on Indian lore, ruled out the theory that a tribal burial ground had been uncovered. He said the skeletons were laid out straight, while Indians buried their dead in a crouching position.

It also had been theorized that a detachment of French troops believed to have camped in the area during the Revolutionary War might have buried soldiers in that spot.

But Capt. Charles G. Halpine, retired naval officer and superintendent of state buildings and grounds, said this possibility seems unlikely since no metal buttons or other items of military dress or equipment were found.

Tucker Schools To Get $20,000 Less In State Aid

PARSONS—Tucker County schools will receive $20,000 less in state aid for the school year 1957-58. The major percentage of the loss in aid is due to the drop in school enrollment.

The Board of Education is faced with a rising cost in labor, materials, instructional supplies, social security matching funds for all school personnel and increased teachers salaries. In order to meet these obligations and to overcome some of the loss in state aid the board must seek new sources of revenue locally.

The 1957 Legislature made no additional appropriations for the schools in the state and has consistently insisted upon more local support for each county's schools.

Tucker County is one of the few counties of the state whose voters have refused to support a special levy to gain additional funds for school purposes, while at the same time consistently losing state aid because of the loss in school population.

The board has rejected the capitation tax as a means of raising school monies since it feels that the tax would be a burden on many of the county's taxpayers in view of poor economic conditions prevailing throughout the county. There is no plan to levy the tax at this time.

In order to meet the school budget for the coming school years, the board put into effect the title transfer tax of $2.20 per $500 consideration paid as provided by the law passed by the 1957 West Virginia Legislature, effective July 1.

This tax applies to deeds and deeds of trust and will be determined according to the actual amount paid for property, or the amount borrowed. No tax would be due on transfers where no consideration was paid.

Members approved the memorandum of understanding with the Extension Service, whereby the board will pay $2,400 to the county 4-H Club agent when one is engaged.

Miss Martha Bomberger, who has served the county four years, resigned her position, effective in August.

Miss Ruth Williams, a senior in Parsons High School and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis A. Williams, was selected by the board for a teacher's scholarship.

Clayton Evans, a senior and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Glennis Evans of Leadmine, was chosen as alternate.

Following a lengthy discussion concerning a county health department, the board agreed on establishing such a department and will help finance the salary of a public health nurse who would also serve the schools in the county, providing such a unit is set up.

The group voted to have repairs made to Mountaineer Senior High School which would include a 60 by 28-foot building to be used for a vo-ag room; painting and repairing of the Parsons High School and repairing of the inside and outside walls, painting, plastering and refinishing of floors in Parsons Graded School.

The board voted to go on Daylight Saving Time.

Attorneys Claim Errors In Munday Trial At Keyser

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—Attorneys for Ralph Munday, formerly of Cumberland, who is serving a one to 10-year sentence in the West Virginia Penitentiary, told the Supreme Court that Mineral County Circuit Court made 12 errors during his trial.

Munday was convicted of receiving and dealing in $200 worth of stolen goods from the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad.

His attorneys contend the indictment failed to say the goods involved actually had been stolen and failed to charge him with any crime under West Virginia law. They called the case:

"A classic example of how an improperly drawn indictment can throw a case into a welter of confusion, handicapping the accused in the preparation of his defense and leaving him vulnerable to further jeopardy."

The Attorney General's Office, representing the state, argued that: "The indictment contains all necessary matters of the offense of transferring stolen property, either expressly or by necessary implication."

Fruit Growers Plan Program
MARTINSBURG, W. Va. (AP)—Fruit-growers are willing to gamble $55,000 they can "modify" the weather to protect their crops against hail-storm damage. They need $35,000 more.

About 60 of them were enrolled today in the Cumberland-Shenandoah Weather Modification Corp., a cooperative organization to detect approaching hailstorms and "seed" the storm clouds with silver iodide to minimize the damage they might cause to orchards.

The method is used to change the downfall from hail to slush or rain.

Weather Modification would cover an 80-mile area stretching from Chambersburg, Pa., to Woodstock, Va., and from Romney, W. Va., to Frederick, Md. Plans call for the use of radar to track the storms, two airplanes and about 20 generators for the "seeding" operations.

Charles A. O'Hanlon said growers already enrolled in the cooperative at maximum fees of $2.50 per acre farm a total of more than 15,000 acres in the area. Enrollment covering about 30,000 acres would be necessary to finance the project, whose estimated cost for June-September operation would be $70,000, he said.

Employees Return To Jobs At Emerson-Pryne Company

KEYSER—Approximately 100 production workers returned to their jobs at the Emerson-Pryne plant of the Emerson-Pryne Company yesterday morning after being on strike since Monday, April 22.

Members of Local 1930, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, voted at a meeting Wednesday night to return to work and accept a new contract, the provisions of which were arrived at by negotiators for the union and Emerson-Pryne at a meeting earlier in the day.

The new one-year contract calls for an increase of six cents per hour, retroactive to April 1 when the old contract expired, and another increase of two cents per hour October 1.

The new contract, signed Wednesday, will expire next May 1. When negotiations broke down April 22 the union was asking a flat 12 cents per hour increase on a new one-year contract, and Emerson-Pryne was offering an increase of six cents per hour now and another six cents next year under a two-year contract.

The compromise agreement reached Wednesday was reportedly accepted almost unanimously at the meeting of union members.

Man Jailed After Death Of His Wife

James M. Chambers
Questioned; Police
File No Charges

Allegany County authorities are continuing their investigation of the fatal shooting of Mrs. Virginia Pearl (Broadstock) Chambers, 37, who was found dead of a gunshot wound in the chest last night at her home, 324 Arch Street.

Being held on an open charge in connection with the shooting is her husband, James M. Chambers, a Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company brakeman.

Services for Mrs. Chambers will be held Sunday at 2 p. m. at the Hafer Funeral Home by Rev. Adam E. Grim, pastor of Grace Methodist Church. Interment will be in Hillcrest Burial Park.

Six Children Survive
Surviving, besides her husband, are her mother, Cora Edith (Sipe) Broadstock, an invalid who is confined to the second floor of the Arch Street residence; five sons, Thomas, James, William, David and John Chambers; a daughter, Virginia Chambers, all at home; and two brothers, Clarence Broadstock of St. Louis, who will be questioned about the shooting, and Clyde Broadstock, Cleveland.

A 1939 graduate of Fort Hill High School Mrs. Chambers was an outstanding athlete. She played basketball for three years at Fort Hill, and later was a softball star on South End Independent teams.

The children, who range in age from two months to 13 years, are being taken care of by neighbors. City Police Officers John Powell and Kenneth Morrissey went to the Arch Street home after a report of a disturbance was received at headquarters at 7:45 p. m.

Found On Floor
Mrs. Chambers was found on the floor of the kitchen with a wound in the left chest from a "pumpkin ball" fired from a 12-gauge bolt action shotgun. The weapon was found leaning against the wall of an adjoining room.

Also in the kitchen were Chambers and the deceased woman's brother, Clarence Broadstock, who was in town visiting his mother. Police said the shooting apparently followed an argument between the husband and wife.

It was reported that Broadstock and Chambers left the house together yesterday morning and toured city taverns before winding up at a South End establishment at about 7 p. m.

One Took Nap
Mrs. Chambers entered the tavern while the men were there and asked them to go home for supper, police said. Although the men left, Mrs. Chambers remained at the tavern for about half an hour.

Broadstock told police he went into the living room for a nap when they arrived home, and that Chambers went upstairs. He later heard an argument in the kitchen, and then a blast from the shotgun.

Chambers was taken into custody and placed in the City Jail. He had more than $100 in his possession when jailed, police said. The investigation is being headed by Assistant State's Attorney James S. Getty and Sgt. William F. Baker, criminal investigator for the Maryland State Police.

Patrol Kept At Fire Scene

A patrol is being kept on the scene of a fire in the Narrows between the B&O Railroad tracks and the top of the rocky cliffs, according to William H. Johnson, district forester.

Johnson said the blaze started yesterday at 6 p. m. near the railroad tracks at the eastern entrance to the Narrows and was brought under control about 10 p. m.

Members of LaVale Volunteer Fire Company and youths from the Green Ridge Forestry Camp battled the blaze up the side of Wills Mountain to within 100 feet of the Allegany Instrument Company on top of the mountain.

Johnson said the firemen had to fight the blaze with water because of the rocky terrain. Johnson said the men carried five-gallon Indian pumps up the side of the hill before the fire was brought under control. About two acres was burned.

Members of the LaVale Fire Company were still on hand late last night keeping an eye on the smoldering scrub brush and trees which had burned.

Police Investigating School Bus Hit-Run

State Police are investigating a reported hit-and-run accident involving an Allegany County school bus.

Trooper William S. McAfee said the school bus stopped on U. S. Route 220 near McCoole to permit a schoolboy to alight when a car traveling towards Cumberland struck the back of the bus. Driver of the bus was Norris C. Pierce, of McMullen Highway.

Hout Company Low Bidder For State College Work

The Hout Construction Company of this city was the low bidder on a contract to improve the quadrangle of the Frostburg State Teachers College campus.

A bid of $29,029.67 was submitted by the Hout firm. The only other bidder was the John I. Vandegrift Company of this city which bid $30,490 on the project.

Officials of the Maryland Department of Public Improvement said the two bids will be tabulated about the middle of next week and the contract awarded at that time. The Hout firm is currently engaged in one phase of the campus improvement project.

The work includes concrete walks, steps, grass sodding of the area which was the old athletic field. Temporary wooden steps will be replaced by concrete steps, and nine lights will be placed on standards, most of them near the steps.

The quadrangle is formed by Old Main, the former main college building, the laboratory school, the Science Hall, Comp. Hall and Lowndes Hall, the boys' dormitory, the latter four new structures and the girls' dormitory.

Program Held By Troop On Parents Night

Boy Scout Troop 1, sponsored by St. Luke's Lutheran Church, observed Parents Night Monday at the church.

Scout Thomas Izat conducted the opening exercises. Demonstrations included first aid, by Gary Yutzy and Robert Brant, of the Rattlesnake Patrol; knots, by Kenneth Brown of the Hawk Patrol; tracking, by Michael Hartman of the Eagle Patrol, and compass and mapping, by Lee Judy, Beaver Patrol.

Preston C. Luck, former scout commissioner of Radford, Va., presented a talk on the history of scouting. A tenderfoot investigation ceremony was conducted by William J. Armbruster and Joseph Yutzy for Robert Brant, son and Glendon Oster.

During a Court of Honor, merit awards were presented by Harry Hartman to George Izat, for home repairs and firemanship, and to Lee Judy, for fishing, home repairs and firemanship.

Members advanced to second class rating by Howard Dickerson. Those were John Adams, Ronald Yutzy and Richard Brant, while Roy Yutzy conducted an advancement to first class rating for Robert Gaffney, Lee Judy and Robert Brant.

Recent "good turns" attributed to the troop included helping pack clothes for foreign relief, helping mail out Easter seals, helping in the envelope distribution for the Muscular Dystrophy campaign, and helping pass out circulars for Goodwill Industries, a store recently opened here for the sale of articles made by handicapped persons.

The troop recently observed Conservation Week by assisting in the planting of trees under the supervision of the district forester's office. The unit was also shown a film on forest fires.

Potomac Flow Below Average

The observed mean daily flow of the Potomac River at the Wiley Ford gauge during April was 2,116 cubic feet per second, which is 94.4 per cent of the 27-year average for the month.

The daily flow varied between 489 million gallons on April 23 to 3,296 million gallons on April 9.

A seasonal increase in storage in Savage River Dam caused an average decrease of 124 million gallons, or 5.1 per cent of the flow of the river at Cumberland.

The total precipitation at Cumberland, as reported by the Weather Bureau was 4.16 inches, 1.23 inches above the April average. The average daily temperature was 55.9 degrees, which was 3.8 degrees above normal. A trace of snow was recorded during the month.

More Frost Seen In Area Tonight

Temperature Drops To 27 At Oakland; Orchardists Worry

The "worry season" for orchardists and vegetable gardeners is here, complete with below freezing temperatures and a light frost in spots during the night.

And tonight, the Weather Bureau forecast for Allegany, Garrett and Washington counties calls for the thermometers to get down to 32 degrees.

The bureau says there is a chance of scattered frost, mostly in the valleys.

Frost Does Not Damage
Many points in this tri-state section reported light, but not damaging frost over night.

Oakland had a 27-degree official low; LaVale and Lonaconing, 32; Hancock, 29, and Frostburg, 32.

Peach and apple trees are, for the most part, in the petal-fall stage, with the blooms being their fullest over the past weekend.

Consolidated Orchards, which has extensive apple and peach orchards in Allegany, Morgan and Hampshire counties, reported no damage this morning.

Crucial Period
This is a crucial time, as light frosts could cause the buds to weaken and cause early fall of the fruit.

At Stegmair's Orchards on Christie Road and Iron's Mountain, a light frost was reported, but little damage was anticipated.

In the Hancock apple section, Dr. Ben Rogers of the University of Maryland fruit laboratory here said the buds had a close call last night.

Snuggly pots were burned in a number of orchards.

The Weather Bureau said the outlook for the next few days is for mostly sunny days and cool nights.

Memorial Day Program Set

Fort Cumberland Post 13, American Legion, will sponsor a program on Memorial Day, May 30, in honor of departed veterans.

Thomas F. Conlon Sr., is chairman of the event. He said the program, which follows a custom established by the Grand Army of the Republic, will start with a parade to Rose Hill Cemetery.

There services will be conducted at the Soldier's Monument.

The parade will form at 10:30 a. m. in the vicinity of the State Armory and move at 11 a. m.

The patriotic organizations invited to attend were urged to arrange for cars for those unable to march.

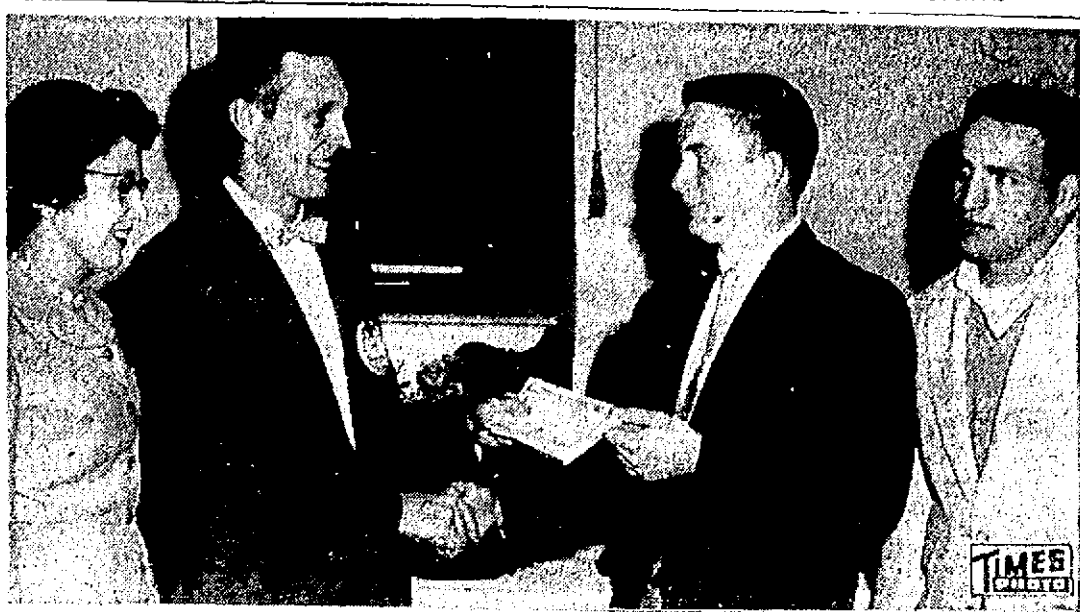

Damage Heavy From Three-Car Collision

Approximately $1,700 damage resulted from a spectacular three-car collision yesterday at the intersection of Baltimore Avenue and Shade's Lane. No one was injured in the crash, although a passenger in one of the vehicles involved complained of pain in his ribs.

Drivers of the vehicles involved were John H. Smith, Polish Mountain, whose car suffered approximately $400 damage; John A. Kreiling Jr., 515 Riehl Avenue, who reported nearly $1,000 damage; and Edward N. Proud, 12 East First Street, whose car had an estimated $250 damage.

ESSAY CONTEST WINNERS—The results of the essay contest sponsored by the Civitan Club of Cumberland among local high school students were announced last night. Above, receiving first prize was William Spoel, of Fort Hill High School, second from right. Presenting the $50 savings bond is Eugene Kolb, chairman of the club's essay committee and club president-elect. Looking on at right is Jesse Ketterman, Allegany High School, second place, and at left, Mary Jane Howell, St. Mary's High School, third place. The prizes were awarded at the club's meeting in the Community Room of Central YMCA.

Cancer Fund Boosted By Lonaconing

Community Gives Donation Of $500; Total Climbing

Allegany county's 1957 Cancer Crusade women's division total neared the $4,500 mark today with $500 in donations from Lonaconing highlighting reports to Allegany County Chapter headquarters in the Union Street County Building.

Lonaconing with its $500 contribution thus takes its place with Frostburg, where today's total stood at $1,251.78, as one of the Crusade's strongholds—the two communities accounting for nearly half of the amount reported.

The door-to-door canvassing in the Lonaconing area was done by members of Morning Star Temple, Pythian Sisters, under the leadership of Mrs. John Schramm. The canvass total was under $500, she said, but Morning Star Temple made up the difference.

Chapter Head Pleased

"There's only one word—amazing—to describe the job being done by women volunteers and other leaders in Frostburg and Lonaconing," William Walsh, president of Allegany County Chapter, Maryland Division, Inc., American Cancer Society, said this morning.

"If Cumberland and other communities due as well in proportion to population figures," Walsh added, "the final figure is going to be far beyond our most optimistic expectations."

Walsh pointed out that Frostburg's total of $1,251.78 does not include special gifts being solicited from business firms and companies by workers headed by J. Glenn Beall Jr., co-chairman of the general campaign.

Canvass To Continue
Mrs. A. J. Cioni, executive secretary of the chapter, announced today that the door-to-door canvass will continue for several more days with Centre and Mechanic streets and intersecting streets to be covered tonight.

"A number of other streets remain to be covered," she added. "Workers have tried to call at all houses on all streets, and if any have been missed it will be appreciated if persons desiring to contribute mail their donations direct to headquarters."

A number of communities, among them Cresaptown, Westport, Barton, Midland, Gilmore, Mt. Savage and Ellerslie, (Continued on Page 12)

Congregation Approves St. Paul's Church Plans

The congregation of St. Paul's Lutheran Church last night approved the preliminary plans for a new edifice on Washington Street.

The building committee, headed by Charles L. Kopp, gave a report to the congregation on plans. Following a discussion of the plans the committee was authorized by the congregation to instruct the J. Alfred Banne and Associates, York, Pa., church architects, to proceed with further details on the new church.

In all probability the new church will be constructed of brick, although this has not been definitely decided, according to Kopp, included in the plans are the church nave, fellowship hall, younger boys' room, and educational building.

The church purchased the large tract and residence of the J. Philip Roman estate on Washington Street in 1950 for $62,250. The tract takes up an entire block bounded by Washington Street, North Smallwood Street, Fayette Street and Plum Alley.

The residence is a large, three-story brick structure with gables and several wings and at one time was one of the finest homes in the city. It has been vacant in recent years.

The present church, at the corner of Baltimore and Centre Streets, was built around 1893 and is the third edifice to occupy the site. The first church on the site was erected in 1794 and the second was constructed about 1840.

In the event a new church building on Washington Street is approved the present edifice on Baltimore Street would be sold.

The church ceremony will include recitation of the pledge to the cross and the singing of the Crusaders Hymn. Father Hopkins, who is assistant director for Western Maryland of the Society for the Propagation of the Faith, will present the awards.

The sermon will be by Rev. Arthur Bastrass, assistant pastor of St. Patrick's Church. Solemn benediction will close the rally. Officers will be Rev. Lawrence P. Landrigan, pastor of St. Mary's, celebrant; Rev. Sylvan Fondreist, O.F.M. Cap., assistant pastor of St. Peter and Paul, deacon, and Rev. George Pugh, assistant pastor of St. Peter's of Westernport, sub-deacon.

$235 Awarded In Damage Case

A six-man jury in Circuit Court today awarded Leo Rowan damages of $235 against James Gordon in a civil appeal from Trial Magistrate Court.

Rowan was represented by Thomas B. Finan while Gordon's counsel was Milton Gerson. The case resulted from an auto accident in which Rowan's machine was damaged. The defense contends the damages amount to more than the car was worth. Chief Judge George Henderson presided.

Alfalfa Weevil Check Underway

Wallace Harding, an entomologist from the University of Maryland, inspected a number of alfalfa fields in Allegany County today to determine the incidence of alfalfa weevil.

Joseph M. Steger, county farm agent, said a number of complaints had been received from farmers concerning the insects. There was only one incidence of the weevil in this county last year, but in other sections of the state the infestation was heavy. Steger added.

Mrs. America Contest Set

FT. LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—Mrs. West Virginia arrived here yesterday in the first contingent of the nation's top homemakers seeking the Mrs. America title.

Mrs. Jane Messersmith of Buckhannon, W. Va., was among nine state titlists arriving in nearby Miami from New York to launch this year's pageant.

All of the contestants face a rigid schedule. Although the actual home-making contest begins Monday, the time before then will be filled with picture-taking, group meetings and briefing sessions.

Mrs. Messersmith and her husband flew to New York from Elkington and remained overnight there before joining the group flight to Florida.

Police Start Hoodlumism Drive In City

Youth Told He Faces Weapon Charges; Keegan Praises Work

The City Police Department launched its drive to rid Cumberland of hoodlumism and juvenile delinquency with arrests last night of two teenagers for loitering.

Officer Glenn Iser arrested the youths, 18 and 15 years of age, at the Greyhound Bus terminal on North Mechanic Street. The younger boy was released in the custody of his parents for juvenile court action, while the older boy was given a hearing this morning before Trial Magistrate J. Milton Dick.

Presented as evidence at the hearing was a length of chain, which the youth said he carried as protection from a "gang of guys who pick on me." The younger boy had two knives in his possession, Officer Iser said.

Should Find Job
Magistrate Dick said the Police Department is for the protection of residents. He asked the boy if he had ever sought protection by police. The youth had not.

Pointing out that he was open to a charge of carrying a deadly weapon, the magistrate said the youth should be looking for a job to help his mother instead of loitering with gangs in public places.

Questioning disclosed that the boy had completed the ninth grade of school, was unemployed but had worked as a farm hand in the Mexico Farms region.

The youth also had in his possession several newspaper clippings concerning the possibility of a city curfew ordinance and the sentencing of a man to the House of Correction for the beating of a young boy.

The youth was released on his own recognizance and told to have his pastor make a report on the youth's knowledge of his religion, within 30 days. He was also directed to keep away from the bus terminal and other public places unless he had business to transact. He was told to keep away from gangs of youths.

Officers Keep Check
Attending the hearings were Chief of Police H. Emmett Flynn and Police Commissioner William V. Keegan, who said he was "glad to see the magistrates co-operating in the drive by the Police Department to rid the city of hoodlums and teenage gangs."

Chief Flynn said officers had been instructed to keep a check on business places where complaints had been made concerning vandalism and hoodlumism by teenagers.

The youth was informed that the deadly weapon charge would be held in abeyance pending his future actions and Chief Flynn was told to have patrolmen search members of gangs for knives, chains and other items which could be classified as deadly weapons.

Youths found with any such items should be charged with the more serious count, Magistrate Dick said, adding that he would cooperate with the police in helping break up gangs of youths before "someone is seriously injured or killed."

Some Persons Fail To Apply For Benefits

June 30 Is Deadline To Prevent Loss Of Full Eligibility

Many disabled people who are eligible under the new disability provisions in the social security law have not yet applied for their rights, according to James E. Robertson, district manager of the Cumberland social security district office today.

If a person who has been disabled and has not worked for some time does not apply before June 30, he may lose his eligibility for disability insurance benefits at age 50, and at best he would suffer a reduction in any benefits payable to him at retirement age, or to his survivors in case of his death.

"Of course, no one wants that to happen," Robertson said. "So we are asking readers to pass this information on to any person they know who is disabled, but who worked under social security for at least five years during the 10-year period before becoming disabled. Tell him to get in touch with his nearest social security office."

Robertson explained that to be eligible under the disability provisions in the social security law, a person who files an application before June 30, 1957 must be so severely disabled that he cannot do any substantial gainful work; have worked in five out of the last 10 years before his disability began; have also worked in one and a half out of the last three years before that date. Of course, the work must have been in social security covered employment or self-employment, except that in some cases railroad work or military service may be counted.

If a disabled person files an application after the end of June 1957 and has been disabled for more than one year, he must have social security credit for five years in the 10 year period ending just one year before the date of his application, and also for one and a half out of the last three years of this period.

The effect of this provision is that a person who was disabled before October 1954 will no longer be able to have his social security record frozen or to receive disability payments at age 50 if he waits until after June to apply because he would not meet the work requirements. If his work before his disability was not steady, he might lose out even if disabled more recently than September 1954.

Of course, even if he cannot qualify for a disability determination, this person may still qualify for old-age insurance benefits at age 65 (62 for women) if he meets the requirements to be fully insured. His survivors may still be eligible for benefits

Reduction In Mental Cases Official Aim

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—Gov. Underwood hopes that emphasis on treatment and rehabilitation eventually will reduce demands for beds at the State's mental hospitals.

"Otherwise," he told a news conference yesterday, "we are just keeping on the rest of our lives erecting new buildings."

Along with a general discussion of mental health problems and plans, the conference disclosed that:

1. The Industrial and Publicity Commission has had "8 or 10 inquiries" about the Paden City Pottery, a Tyler County firm about to go out of business, and hopes that a new operator for the plant can be found.
2. Elimination of the Benwood-McIntech bottleneck on W. Va. 2 is "high on the priority list of this administration," with any improvement to include a widening of the highway to four lanes if possible.

have not made returns to the chapter office, captains reporting that they have not received collections from all of their workers.

Co-chairman Beall announced at noon today that a group of Frostburg volunteers will canvass the Eckhart section next Thursday.

In case of his death. However, in either case, the benefit rate will be lower than if he had applied before June 30, 1957, for a disability determination.

"The important thing to remember," Robertson concluded, "is, if you have been disabled for work for a long time and do not apply before June 30, 1957, you may lose rights to protect your social security record, to disability benefits at age 50, to retirement benefits at retirement age, and to survivors benefits for your family in case of your death."

Strangling Indictment Is Returned

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—A first degree indictment was filed today against Alfred Fiddazzo in the necktie strangling of Mrs. Marcia June Novak, his common law wife.

The 39-year-old Baltimore laborer was indicted late yesterday by the Anne Arundel County grand jury.

State's Atty. C. Osborne Duval bypassed a preliminary hearing for the 215-pound sewer construction worker and took the case directly to the grand jury yesterday.

Mrs. Novak's body, with a necktie knotted tightly around her neck, was found April 16 in the house she occupied with Fiddazzo at Forest Glenn near Pasadena. Police said Mrs. Novak, a mother of a 10-year-old boy, had lived with Fiddazzo for the past six years.

Fiddazzo surrendered to police 12 hours after a two-state search for him had been launched following location of Mrs. Novak's body beneath a bunk bed.

Georgia Girl Champion Of Homemakers

The daughter of a southern Georgia farmer won over 48 state winners who had triumphed over thousands of other girls in their own areas.

Runner-up in the national contest and winner of a $4,000 scholarship is Miss Gertrude Horton, 18, of Rowland Hall High School, Salt Lake City, Utah.

The contestants were judged on a written homemaking examination, interviews and observation.

West Virginia was represented in the national contest by Miss Betty Pancake, Romney High School student, who won first honors in state competition. She has been in New York City taking part in the final round of activities.

Pre-Summer Outlook

The weather maps below give the U. S. Weather Bureau's long-range forecast from now until June. It is not a specific forecast in the usual sense, but an ESTIMATE of the average temperatures and precipitation for the period.

EXPECTED TEMPERATURES

Temperatures are expected to average below seasonal normals over the eastern third of the nation until early June, with the exception of the states bordering on the Gulf of Mexico, where above-normal temperatures are predicted. Over the western half of the country above-normal averages are predicted, except for below normal in the far Southwest.

EXPECTED PRECIPITATION

From now until June, rainfall is expected to be subnormal over much of the country, but above-normal amounts are indicated in the Northwest and far Southwest. Rains in central and eastern Texas, which have been abnormally heavy, are predicted to taper off to near or subnormal.

U. S. Restaurant Famine: Nobody Wants To Cook

By WARD CANNEL
NEA Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK—(NEA)—There is a famine in the U. S. restaurant industry.

According to a national hotelmen's association, there are not enough chefs to fill all the jobs.

According to an administrator in a food trades school, neither enough people nor the right kind are enrolling.

According to a European-trained chef, it is no longer possible to lure qualified people from abroad.

Even the Hotel and Restaurant Workers Union, jealous of its position, tells employers, "Give us 24 hours to find somebody. After that, you're on your own."

Meanwhile, jobs that pay no less than $10,000-a-year go begging. Jobs that carry extra benefits of travel and executive prestige. Jobs that give men a passport to almost every place in the world.

"We're battling a social stigma," according to Robert Hertz, administrative assistant at New York's Food Trades Vocational High School. "Even if we point out the great rewards in this field, we still have to fight the lack of glamor that has become attached to being a chef."

Young people, he said, think of a short-order cook when they think of food work. They are wrong, he said, but they have good reasons.

"In my father's time," he said, "a man would spend an evening at dining. Eating was an art that went hand in hand with the art of cooking. Today, we're diet conscious. We do everything faster. We are tempted with packaged dinners, with quick cooking and a fast bite-to-eat."

It has all contributed to taking the glamor out of cooking. As much of a paradox as famine in the restaurants, however, is our well-traveled and culinary-educated nation that is at home with pizza, with chop suey or with gefilte fish.

"Our people know good food and good restaurants," Hertz said, "and they demand good cooking. But our food trades schools have empty seats. And those who enroll are often below normal in-intelligence. If we require an entrance examination, we'll have even fewer students."

One executive chef, Albert Stockli, added testimony to the unhappy dossier. He is a graduate of the kitchens in Europe's finest restaurants — where an apprentice had to pay for the privilege of learning. Several years ago, when he assumed responsibility for New York's Hawaiian Room, he was sent to Hawaii to learn recipes.

"Do you think this impresses anybody here?" he asked. "I can't get people to understand that this is a good way to work and earn a living. I remember the old days when a chef was treated like royalty because he deserved it. Today he still deserves it, but nobody cares."

In Stockli's experience, we can no longer count on Europe's supplying us with chefs. To many years of war have thinned the ranks and now that their restaurant business is picking up again, they need all the chefs they can train.

Hospital Gets Sprinkler Plan

Sacred Heart Hospital is having a sprinkler system installed in all five floors of the section of the institution.

The newer section of the hospital operated by the Daughters of Charity was built in 1936 and is of fire-safe construction.

The contract for the installation was awarded to the Grinnell Company, of Baltimore, and total cost is estimated from $17,500 to $18,000.

The contract calls for the work to be completed in mid-September.

Victor Products Firm May Sell W. Va. Plant

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va. (AP) — Roy Seely, president of Victor Products Corp., announced yesterday the firm is negotiating for the sale of one of its plants at adjoining Ransom to the Narco Co. of Chattanooga, Tenn., and the Helitz Co. of Philadelphia.

The plant, which produces premixed soft drink vending machines, employs about 125 persons. A spokesman for the prospective purchasers said no major changes in plant operations were contemplated.

Building Permit Issued

Robert C. Long, 432 Columbia Street, obtained a city permit yesterday to erect a one-story brick and frame residence at 1908 Frederick Street. It will be 40 by 24 feet and cost $5,000.

Policeman Tells Jury Of Kidnaping Details

BALTIMORE (AP) — A policeman told a Criminal Court jury yesterday how he was disarmed, robbed and kidnaped by three men who later stripped him of his heavy clothing and tied him to a tree in freezing weather.

Patrolman Charles W. Zeller testified he was robbed of his gun, holster and flashlight by one of the three men on trial when he started to investigate their car parked behind a refrigeration plant.

When the trial started yesterday, innocent pleas to charges of kidnaping and robbery were entered by Morris Ruckle, 43, and Curtis E. Midgett, 40, both of Chester, Pa., and John R. Davis, 26, of Baltimore, Negro.

Zeller said he was tied to a tree in Howard County after being tied

Pizza Seller Arrested On Lottery Count

BALTIMORE (AP) — Rackets division police executed two more raids yesterday in the current drive against lottery and bookmaking operations.

Arrested at a pizza pie shop were Vincent G. Lanza, 37-year-old proprietor, and Raymond E. Clark, 29. Each was placed under $2,500 bail on bookmaking charges.

The second raid resulted in the arrest of Charles Lee, 56-year-old cook, in a house on the northeast fringe of the downtown section. Lee was accused of possessing lottery slips and was held in $4,500 bail.

A bust of Longfellow was placed in the Post's Corner of Westminster Abbey. No other American poet has been so honored.

Lillian Roth Surprises By Acting Chore

Dianna Barrymore Says Half-Brother John Not Qualified

By ATRA BAER

(Pinch-hitting for vacationing Jack O'Brien)

(Distributed by International News Service)

NEW YORK—Louella Parsons has reported from Hollywood that John Barrymore Jr., will play the part of his fabulous father in a forthcoming "Playhouse 90" adaptation of Gene Fowler's best seller "Goodnight Sweet Prince."

"I was curious to find out what another best-selling author—Diana Barrymore—thought about the idea."

"I don't think he's qualified to take on the part," boomed Diana.

"Why, John hardly knew Daddy. None of the Barrymores knew each other especially. Besides, he doesn't look like Daddy, except in spots."

However, Diana wishes her half-brother (John Jr.'s mother was Dolores Costello and Diana's Michael Strange) "much luck."

Last night's "Playhouse 90" production "Child of Trouble" featured exceptional performances by Lillian Roth—who surprises with her acting talent—Ricardo Montalban (one of our best under-rated actors), the incredible little Patty McCormack and Joan Blondell.

This show was a "trial run" for Lillian. Every important agent and producer dialed in because Lillian wants to turn strictly dramatic.

Margaret O'Brien's deserting TV temporarily to play "Juliet" at California's Pasadena Playhouse....

Comedian Jan Murray—now emceeing ABC-TV's "Treasure Hunt"—has wangled a screen test as a "heavy." Jan is convinced he is the Jack Palance type.

Walter Slezak and his 8-year-old son Leo will appear together in a series next season; Ditto Herbert Marshall and his daughter, Sarah.

Joel McCrea's son Jody will bow out of the "Sgt. Preston" series to become an Army priv.

Bob Hope winds up the season this Sunday (NBC-TV) with guests George Jessel, golfer Cary Middlecoff and Shelley Winters.

Songstress Theresa Brewer is fighting a virus and might have to cancel out of the May 11th George M. Cohan spectacular....

John Payne, who'll debut this September in an NBC series "The Westerner," turning down all movie offers. He says TV pays better.

Jayne Meadows will do a comedy series for Desilu.

Summer Repeat Season Arrives

NEW YORK (AP)—Now approach summer, the season when we, the viewers, move into a world crowded with reruns and repeats.

By casual count—it has to be casual, for the plans of two of the three major networks are still in a state of flux and mind-changing—at least 33 popular shows from "Rin-Tin-Tin" to the Mickey Mouse Club, from "This is Your Life to You Bet Your Life," will serve up repetition of the past season's programs as entertainment.

Those of us who feel strongly that once is enough must rely on a score or so of the stalwarts to provide us with relief from the heat. These include the three top big-money quiz shows, a continuation of the Sullivan-Allen ratings war, "Meet the Press," "I've Got a Secret," "To Tell the Truth," "What's My Line," "Talent Scouts."

Changeover To Atomic Weapons By U.S. Advances

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

Announcement that the United States has in service 8-inch guns which can fire atomic shells adds practically to repeated official statements that she will use any feasible weapon in any sort of war, large or small.

Indeed, Secretary Wilson has admitted that the changeover from conventional to atomic weapons has gone so far that there would be no real choice.

The new guns were developed to replace the ponderous 11-inch atomic guns supplied to some American units in Europe several years ago. Those guns are insufficiently mobile.

This definitely means, and Wilson so testified at a closed congressional hearing, that atomic weapons can be used against troops and field installations in small wars. There will be no more nonatomic wars such as Korea for the United States.

Announcement of the new gun, about which there has been public speculation for a long time, comes just when the North Atlantic Council is meeting to consider, among other things, the application of atomic weapons to NATO strategy.

The new smaller weapons can be produced very cheaply as compared with strategic aerial bombs. They give increased firepower with decreased manpower, something in which all countries are vitally interested at the moment.

NATO forces in Europe are fashioned for two purposes: 1—To deter aggression by guaranteeing that all members, including the United States, will spring into action if their troops are attacked and 2—To make an interim defense in case of attack while strategic retaliation gets under way.

Atomic ground warfare is particularly applicable to such a situation. Over and above the direct military considerations, however, is re-emphasis that future wars will be so destructive that nobody can win.

It will not be long until every body has these new weapons, and it will be impossible to fight any war with moderation.

With maneuverable atomic guns throwing shells at towns as well as cities, no one who has seen the destruction in Europe caused by the puny weapons of the last war can believe that anything will be left next time—if there is a next time.

Would you like to hazard a guess as to the annual income of Ricki Starr who headlines tonight's wrestling show at the State Armory?

If your guess is $10,000, multiply that figure by ten and you will come close to hitting Starr's pay bracket. At least, that's the information contained in the June issue of Sport magazine which just hit the newsstands.

Written by Frank Graham Jr., the story reveals that Starr is among wrestling's "Big Six," the select list being headed by Antonio Rocca who also has appeared here.

Starr, who goes against Oyama Kato in the Armory ring tonight, first attracted attention on television while wrestling in Washington a year ago. Since then, according to Sport, he has had enthusiastic audiences waiting for him wherever he has appeared.

A handsome, crew-cut youngster, Ricki could almost be classified as the "Elvis Presley" of the grunting-and-growling "sport," as he has had a lot to do with getting the bobby sox set interested in this lively game of flying feet and belly smackers.

A heavily-muscled ex-chorus boy, you can look for Starr to enter the Armory ring tonight, attired in delicately shaded tights with matching ballet slippers. "He simply adores pink or pale blue dainties, but has been known to garb his beautiful body in garish tights," writes Graham.

While his mincing and prancing disturb some veteran fans who remember the days of rugged Bronko Nagurski, Gus Sonnenberg and "Jumpin' Joe" Salvetti, the younger set seems to go for the colorful Ricki in a big way.

But they're not the only ones. A high percentage of the 19,999 who saw a recent wrestling show at Madison Square Garden in New York were women. And although Rocca was in the main event, the loudest and shrillest squeals that night were for Starr. Ricki developed his twinking act in such Broadway musicals as "Annie Get Your Gun" before finding a more lucrative career in the ring.

If Starr succeeds in staying near the top as long as Rocca has, he should be able to retire a wealthy man. Because the pace is so hectic and competition so fierce, fans soon tire of wrestlers and new faces keep appearing on the scene. But at 32, the well-conditioned Rocca finds himself as one of the highest paid athletes in the world. A conservative guess puts his annual pay at around $150,000.

In addition to Rocca and Starr, others in wrestling's "Big Six" according to the fans' popularity poll, are Vern Gagne, the college champ who made good with the pros; Lou Thesz, Karl von Hess and Hans Schmidt.

Sports Keg Residue

If all of the great Kentucky Derby winners were to run against each other, who'd win? That's the precise question Pageant magazine asked five experts in the racing field and only 10 horses rated any mention at all. Scoring on the basis of ten points for first, nine for second and so on, the first four—Citation, Whirlaway, Count Fleet and Swaps—finished clearly ahead of the field. . . . Herb Score, Cleveland's sensational strikeout artist, appears primed to average at least nine strikeouts a game for the third consecutive season, something no other pitcher has ever achieved. . . . In 1955, as a rookie, Score averaged 9.38 strikeouts and last year it was 9.19. . . . Now, he is fanning batters faster than ever—ten a game. . . . The 23-year-old southpaw fanned a dozen in 6 1/2 innings Wednesday before being routed by Washington in the seventh. . . . Bill Hahn, back on the job following a heart attack last football season, has a lot more on his mind these days than athletics. . . . Jack, younger son of the highly successful football and track coach at Fort Hill High School, is a patient in Memorial Hospital with rheumatic fever. . . . The youngster, however, is well on the road to recovery. . . . Who said there isn't any money in municipal golf courses? The Rancho course in Los Angeles has all below its fairways and the recreation commission there has asked for drilling bids. . . . Insiders say that Enos Slaughter, the 41-year-old "old reliable" of the New York Yankees, is managerial material. . . . After two years in Kansas City, only five Athletics from the days of Connie Mack remain. They are Alex Kellner, Joe Demaestri, Hector Lopez, Gus Zernial and Vic Power. . . . Looks as though Ron Kramer of Michigan will play football for the Hamilton Tiger-cats and basketball for the Detroit Pistons since the Canadian football season ended before the American pro campaign, giving him an opportunity to capitalize on both sports.

others in the school's 11th annual Invitational. The 15-event program will start at 1:30.

Included in the list of five schools will be Montgomery Blair of Silver Spring, The Blazers, who have won the Maryland Class A title the past two seasons, are also the defending champs in the invitational. Other competing will be North and South Hagerstown, Beall of Frostburg and the Sentinels. Fort Hill has won the meet seven times while Handley took the 1953 title and Blair finished first last spring and in 1955.

Three Records Fall
Last year's meet was one of the most thrilling with three records falling. Non Shaffer of the Hilltoppers belted the previous 12-pound shot put mark of Martinsburg's Kibler (1951) with a heave of 52 feet, 4 1/2 inches.

The other two went to the powerful Blazers' squad with Gerald Rafferty whipping off the previous 880-yard run standard of Handley's Burr Grim (1953) when he traveled the distance in two minutes, two and six-tenths seconds. Grim, now at the University of Maryland and holder of this year's top outdoor mile record with a 4:06 in the Atlantic Coast Conference meet several weeks ago, had done the distance in 2:04.0.

Another of Grim's marks, the 4:43.6 mile in 1953, still stands. Gary Gerber of Montgomery Blair cracked the broad jump record last spring with a leap of 21 feet, 8 inches and the 440-yard relay quartet of the Blazers equalled the meet mark of 45.9 seconds set in 1955 by Fort Hill.

Bruce 220 Champ
The two oldest records at which the five schools' athletes will be shooting at are both held by former Allegany star, Earl Bruce. "Lefty," in the first year of the meet, dashed off the 100 in 10.1 seconds and did the 220 in 22.6. The century mark has been tied twice since with Daly of Frederick (1951) and Bill Kern of Fort Hill (1954) both equalling the time.

The second oldest mark is the one withstanding the attempts of the high jumpers. The Sentinels' Barney Tucker in 1949 went five-feet, 11 inches. Blair last year finished with 54 1/4 points while the Sentinels were second with 60 tallies. Beall was third with 32 1/2 as only three schools competed.

The thirdeels of coach Bill Hahn have participated in three meets this spring, winning a triangular against South Hagerstown and Martinsburg and a dual with Beall. The Red Raiders finished third in the Handley Invitational with the Judges copping first and Waynesboro (Va.) High getting second. Summary of meet records for the local meet follows:

HIGH JUMP — Tucker, Fort Hill, 1949, 5 feet, 11 inches
BROAD JUMP — Gerber, Montgomery Blair, 1953, 21 feet, 8 inches

Art Caccarelli Recalled By Birds

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Orioles recalled pitcher Art Caccarelli from Vancouver today to let doctors see how a spring training injury is progressing. The left-hander pulled a leg muscle before the season started and was sent to Vancouver. The Orioles didn't say so, but if Caccarelli's sore leg is better they might restore him to their roster. They got him from the Kansas City Athletics last year.

Warren Holkie, umpire in the Southern Assn., comes from Windsor, Ont.

SEVERE AGAIN—Art Larsen surprises spectators with his great physical improvement working out at Davis Stadium, Oakland, Calif. The former national singles tennis champion was seriously injured in an accident last November.

Hoak Hitting At Fiery Rate For Redlegs

By International News Service

What a difference a year made to Don Hoak!
On May 2, 1956, the pepper-pot infielder, while playing for the Chicago Cubs, struck out six times in the course of a 17-inning game won by the New York Giants. The half-dozen whiffs set a league record and tied a major league mark.

On May 2, 1957, Hoak, who joined Cincinnati during the winter, collected four hits as the Redlegs thumped the Giants, 9 to 7. Among his hits yesterday were a two-run homer and a ninth-inning single with the bases loaded that gave Cincinnati its final two runs.

The 6-foot-1, 170-pound holler guy was born in Houliette, Pa., on Feb. 5, 1928. Perhaps because of his birthplace, Hoak always has been a daring and gambling ball player.

He started his career with Valdosta of the Georgia-Florida League in 1947 and made the majors with the Brooklyn Dodgers in 1954 as a highly-touted rookie. He never lived up to "Lefty," in the first year of the league to Chicago before the 1956 season. He flopped with the Cubs and was thrown into the trade that sent him last winter to Cincinnati.

His latest stop seems to have revived the Couderdport, Pa., resident. He's living and thinking baseball once more and only recently, by fielding a ground ball while a base runner to prevent a double play being made, Hoak forced the baseball rule books to be rewritten.

What's more, he is batting a torrid .419 and leading the league in hitting as of this moment.

Duke Meets Terps Today

By The Associated Press

Duke got a chance to regain sole possession of first place today as two games started the Atlantic Coast Conference on a full baseball weekend.

The Blue Devils, sharing the No. 1 spot with North Carolina, met Maryland today. Today's other action involving and ACC team matched North Carolina State with East Carolina of the North State Conference.

The schedule was vacant yesterday after Wednesday's games put the conference lead into a tie between Duke and North Carolina, each with 8.3 records.

Both leaders had three conference games remaining, two of them against common foes. In addition to Maryland today and Virginia tomorrow, the Blue Devils have a May 7 contest with North Carolina State on the schedule. North Carolina meets league foe Wake Forest on May 7, N.C. State, May 11, and Maryland, a rained-out game earlier with a rescheduled date not yet announced.

Victories over Maryland today and Virginia tomorrow would leave defending champion Duke in a highly favored position, putting heavy pressure on the Tar Heels in their drive for the title.

SHORT-CHANGED

LAWRENCE, Kans. — (NEA) — Chuck Mather, Kansas football coach, knows how baseball managers feel when they lose by a run. Last season, he lost three games by a total of five points.

Johnny Kucks led the Yankee pitchers in work during spring exhibitions. He pitched 41 innings. Tom Sturdivant was second with 33 innings.

Tired Roberts Must Develop Another Pitch

By MURRAY OLDERMAN
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Early on a Sunday afternoon Leo Durocher was looking out the window of his center field office at the Polo Grounds. The Giants were on the field, but Durocher stayed inside, pulling on a cigarette.

"Look at that," he whistled. "What's Mays doing now?" somebody asked. "I don't mean Mays," Leo snapped. "I'm watching Roberts. He's been out there throwing for 15 minutes and he hasn't put one pitch higher than the knees. That's what I call a pitcher."

This was two years ago and Roberts went on to win his usual 20 games—and win them in a way that provoked nothing but pure awe, as it did from Durocher, among ballplayers and managers.

'Needs New Pitch'

But this is 1957 and Red Schoendienst, the Giants' second baseman, was talking about Roberts. "I think he needs a new pitch," Red said. "He always had you on the hook with his stuff. He'd throw a fast one, then a curve, then a faster curve, then one just a little slower. Mix them up on you until he had you crazy."

"Now there's a little off that fast ball. Not so much that you can't notice it, but enough to make a difference. Last year's record shows you that. He could use a new pitch if he intends to stay up there as the big pitcher."

Roberts was 19-13 last year. It was the first season he did not lead the league in innings pitched. With this strapping right-hander, it was always a start on the fourth day. But Mayo Smith started to give him an extra day's rest.

Draws Early Blast

This year Roberts, who was hammered for 46 home runs—a new major league record—in 1956, drew an early blast from his manager: "He's too careless about those home run pitches." In his first four outings, Roberts gave up seven homers, although he was sharp yesterday in fanning 13 and beating Chicago, 4-2, for his first 1957 victory.

Roberts seemed to be having trouble with his arm last season. The Michigan State alum denied it, but as the home runs and losses piled up, he began to admit twinges in the arm.

During the winter, he sought out Wayne Anderson, the Reds' trainer, for advice regarding the arm. He was concerned about it.

Two years ago, the Phillies finished the season playing contenders and Roberts wound up almost on an every-other-day basis. Lay Back And Wait
This seems to have caught up with him. The batters tell you they no longer let him force them into mistakes. They lay back and wait for the pitch they want, knowing something is off that fast ball and that it can be followed.

"He should brush back batters," the Giants advise. Roberts, a pinpoint control pitcher through the years, never had to go in for dumping batters. He was too busy getting them out about that sort of stuff.

"Why should I waste time brushing back a club like the Reds?" he asked. "I'm something like 26-13 with them. Wouldn't it be silly to brush back a club I beat easily?"

But after Brooklyn rocked him for the three home runs in his first outing this season, Roberts came back to send Schoendienst and Willie Mays into the dirt as he took a 2-1 victory from the Giants.

"Maybe," somebody said to Red Schoendienst, "that's his new pitch."

Roberts Wins First, Tops Cubs, Fans 13

By FRED DE LUCA

NEW YORK — (INS)—The experts said Robin Roberts was washed up as a top-flight pitcher but the Philadelphia ace could copy Mark Twain today and reply, "The reports of my death have been greatly exaggerated."

Last year, for the first time in seven seasons, the strapping right-hander failed to win 20 games. When he dropped his first three decisions this season and home runs continued to be blasted off his serves, the experts said Roberts had lost his fast ball and was on his way out.

Today, the talk is that he's making a fast comeback. Ex-Pirates Star
Last night, Roberts scored his first victory of the year. It was a 4-to-2 win over the Chicago Cubs, not a remarkable accomplishment in itself, but Roberts allowed only three hits and struck out 13 batters.

Roberts had never whiffed that many before, not even when he had his young, buzzing fastball. The Phils scored three times off young Dick Drott in the sixth on a pair of singles and doubles by Ed Bouchee and Willie Jones.

The three Cub hits all were by ex-Pirates. Dale Long homered in the fifth and singled in the ninth while Lee Walls tripled home the second Cub run in the seventh.

In other National League games, the Milwaukee Braves scored three times in the tenth to beat Pittsburgh, 3 to 5, and increased their league lead over Brooklyn to two games. The Dodgers lost, 3 to 2, in 16 innings to St. Louis, with Don Blasingame driving in the deciding run. Don Hoak collected four hits and batted in five runs as Cincinnati topped the New York Giants, 9 to 7, in a day game.

In the American League, Wall Dropp hit a pinch grand-slam as the Chicago White Sox racked up 6 Washington, 6 to 1. Detroit scored five times in the fourth inning to beat Boston, 7 to 5. The New York Yankees took over second place by squeezing Kansas City, 3 to 1. Cleveland and Baltimore were not scheduled.

Powers Belts Homer
After Pirate rookie John Powers tied the game in the ninth with a three-run homer, the Buc infield fell apart to let Milwaukee score three unearned runs in the tenth. Elroy Face was the victim of the fielding lapses and Lew Burdette the gainer. Hank Aaron had five singles in Milwaukee's 18-hit attack. Danny O'Connell homered off Ron Kline.

During the winter, he sought out Wayne Anderson, the Reds' trainer, for advice regarding the arm. He was concerned about it.

Two years ago, the Phillies finished the season playing contenders and Roberts wound up almost on an every-other-day basis. Lay Back And Wait
This seems to have caught up with him. The batters tell you they no longer let him force them into mistakes. They lay back and wait for the pitch they want, knowing something is off that fast ball and that it can be followed.

Bold Ruler 8-5 Choice To Win Kentucky Derby

Louisville On Annual Pre-Derby Race Binge

By ORLO ROBERTSON
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—This Ohio River city went on its annual pre-Kentucky Derby festive binge today with one ear cocked toward Churchill Downs, where 10 finely tuned 3-year-old horses awaited the call.

Nine of the 10 were as ready as man could make them for the 1 1/4-mile race over the Downs starting at 4:30 p. m., EST tomorrow before some 100,000 fans and a national television audience.

Gen. Duke Doubtful
But the tenth, Calumet Farm's hard-running Gen. Duke, was the talk of the natives as well as the out-of-towners.

Will Gen. Duke start against the greatest field ever to contest this race? It was a question that not even trainer Jimmy Jones could answer today.

"We may not know until an hour before post time," said Jones of his star who was sidelined with a bruised left front foot Tuesday after finishing second to Clifford Lusky's Federal Hill in the Derby Trial.

"I would say that he has something less than a 50-50 chance of starting," Jones added. "We would like to run him but I'm not going to do anything that might injure him seriously."

Bold Ruler Favored
Jones said there is a possibility that the son of Bull Lea, chief hope for Calumet's sixth Derby victory, is suffering from a blind quarter crack deep in the hoof—or that a piece of gravel has worked its way between the wall of the hoof and the meaty part of the leg.

Absence of the General from the classic would tend to take the edge off the intense rivalry with Wheezy Stable's long-striding Bold Ruler.

The two horses met four times in Florida and each won twice. With Gen. Duke a doubtful starter, Bold Ruler has been made the 8-5 choice.

Eddie Machen Meets Maxim In TV Bout

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—A change of pace in sports — at least for Derby Town — takes place tonight when young Eddie Machen takes on aging Joey Maxim in a nationally televised heavyweight fight.

The 10-round match, first to be held on Derby eve since 1940, isn't expected, however, to draw many of the thousands here for the Kentucky Derby away from their favorite topic.

The fight will be televised by NBC starting at 9 p. m. (EST). But Bill King, co-promoter with the International Boxing Club, said last night the bout would not be televised locally unless advance ticket sales are better than they were yesterday.

Only about 5,000 fans are expected at the huge Kentucky Fair and Exposition Center. It seats over 18,000.

Machen, an undefeated 24-year-old, is a 3-1 choice to stop the comeback try of Maxim. A slugger, he enters the scrap with 20 straight victories, 14 by knockouts.

The heavy-lifting Machen carried a unanimous decision over Maxim at Miami Jan. 25. The Oakland, Calif., fighter is rated No. 2 among the heavies.

Maxim, who's listed as 35, is a former light-heavyweight champion. The veteran from Cleveland, Miami and several other stops has been virtually idle for two years.

Jackets Snare 29th In Row, Stags Again Slip By Keyser

Keyser and Petersburg had their second shots this season at the undefeated strings of Moorefield and Elk Garden but both again failed to halt the winning ways of the two Potomac Valley Conference pacesetters.

Moorefield's fast-stepping Jackets again battered the Vikings with a 15-run attack, this time the Petersburg club losing, 15-1. They had been whipped, 13-5, in the first meeting.

Stags Edge Keyser Again
Elk Garden, 2-1 conqueror of Keyser just last week to snare the Golden Tornado unbeaten skin, came up with another one-run verdict as the Keyser crew was edged, 6-5, yesterday.

The triumphs shove both the Stags and Jackets almost out of reach for any competitors except Capon Bridge in the flag chase. Moorefield has reeled off 29 straight wins in the PVC since the closing days of the 1954 campaign. Seven of the wins have come this spring. Elk Garden has yet to lose in six showings for 1957.

Moorefield has four games before closing out the 11-entire season while the Stags, who play 10 tilts, have four remaining. Capon, still with an outside chance on its 7-1 record, has four foes to play before ending the campaign. None of the three contending clubs clash with each other during the schedule.

Two games are listed in the loop this afternoon with Circleville (1-5) invading Southern High (3-2) in Oakland while Mathias (2-2) visits Franklin (2-2). Neither contest will have any bearing on the league race.

'Fix' Notches Fourth
Harry Fitzwater tossed the first six frames for Moorefield yesterday to rack up his fourth victory. He was touched for three hits, fanned eight and walked four. He was lifted with the Jackets holding a 15-0 edge in favor of George Sherman.

Petersburg's only run came in the top of the seventh on an error.

Donnie Schell's pair of doubles and a two-bagger and single by Billy Keller paced Moorefield while Fitzwater weighed in with a three-base swat. The Vikings could collect only four hits and dropped their sixth game for seven attempts.

Dewaine Murphy again fanned Keyser in notching his fourth verdict for the Elks. He had also taken the 2-1 decision over the Tornado last week. Keyser (Continued on Page 17)

Zimmer Hurt, Reese To Be Back Tonight

BROOKLYN (AP)—An injury to Don Zimmer, Brooklyn's fine utility infielder, has hastened the return of Captain Pee Wee Reese to the Dodger lineup.

Reese will be at his usual short-stop post when the Brooks meet the St. Louis Cardinals in Jersey City tonight in the final of their two-game series. The 37-year-old star had been out of action from the start of the season with a badly sprained back.

Zimmer, who had filled in so admirably for Reese, pulled a muscle in his thigh last night in the Dodgers' 16-inning 3-2 loss to the Redbirds. The scrappy little guy suffered the mishap while rounding third base as Junior Gilliam lined out to end the ninth inning.

Despite the injury, Zimmer came through with a dazzling play in the 12th inning to snuff out a Cardinal threat.

With the bases full and two out, Cardinal pitcher Herman Webber drilled a hot grounder that appeared headed out to center field. Zimmer dove to his left, grabbed the ball in his gloved hand and, while sprawled on the ground, flipped to Gilliam for a force out at second. He also contributed a double and single to the Dodger attack.

On Tuesday night Zimmer cracked five hits including a 10th inning homer that defeated the Chicago Cubs 10-9.

Atlantic Coast Discussing Regional TV Grid Program

GREENSBORO, N. C.—(AP)—Atlantic Coast Conference lions, apparently well fed and content, expected little to upset their equilibrium during their annual spring meeting here today.

With such issues as grants-in-aid and freshman varsity competition in minor sports dead ducks, the most stirring item of business was a report by Rex Enright of the University of South Carolina from his television committee.

Enright, South Carolina athletic director and TV committee chairman, was to offer a report regarding regional televising of football and basketball games next season.

Three organizations have offered to back the regional TV program, expected to provide the meat for today's day-long general session. Also docketed was a report by the constitution and by-laws committee, Committee chairman Dr. O. K. Cornwell of the University of North Carolina reported on a study by his group proposing a change in the method of public announcement of reprimands or penalties imposed by the ACC committee, and the term of eligibility for a prospective student found guilty of violating ACC regulations.

The grants-in-aid proposal and the freshman proposal were not expected to reach the floor. A spokesman from the school offering the grants-in-aid proposal said last night that because the constitution and by-laws committee, Committee chairman Dr. O. K. Cornwell of the University of North Carolina reported on a study by his group proposing a change in the method of public announcement of reprimands or penalties imposed by the ACC committee, and the term of eligibility for a prospective student found guilty of violating ACC regulations.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Doctor Lists Cause Of Artery Ailment

BALTIMORE (AP)—Hardening of the arteries can result from excessive sugars, proteins, vitamins and minerals—as well as fats—in the diet, a nutrition expert said yesterday.

Dr. Frederick J. Stare, professor of nutrition at the Harvard School of Public Health, told a medical meeting here that fats have been greatly overemphasized as a source of cholesterol.

Cholesterol is a substance which is carried by the blood and can cause thickening of arterial walls in vessels supplying the heart and brain. Excessive thickening, in turn, can impede the flow of blood and result in the formation of a clot.

The important factor in cholesterol level is not merely fats but overweight, Stare said. He cited studies showing that weight can be gained by increasing sugar consumption without increasing fat intake, at the same time causing a rise in cholesterol level.

Drastic fat reduction is not necessary in weight-reduction diets, he said, adding the average person receives 40 to 50 per cent of his calories from fats. He suggested a 10 per cent reduction as enough in a diet designed to control overweight.

Stare spoke at the annual meeting of the Medical and Surgical Faculty.

Polishing removes most of the very nutritious vitamins and minerals from rice.

Little Man Does Big Job

SHIPPINGPORT, Pa. (AP)—If you ever have a big job for a little man, you might look up Eugene David, 42, of Augusta, Ga.

David just completed such a task for the Dravo Corp. at a 55-million-dollar atomic power plant being built in this western Pennsylvania community.

The job required someone to crawl 10 feet inside an 18-inch stainless steel pipe to grind out

Search Continues For Missing Man

VIENNA, Md. (AP)—The search for a deckhand believed to have perished in the sinking of the grain freighter Sara C. Conway was to resume today in the Nanticoke River.

Sam Abrahams, a diver from Baltimore, nearly lost his life late yesterday while probing the ship which sank in about 50 feet of water.

Abrahams had descended into the river in search of 64-year-old Pete Drinkwater, who lived on the freighter. He apparently was aboard when the ship was rammed early yesterday by an oil barge being pushed by a tug.

Witnesses said the diver was upended by a strong undercurrent and then became entangled in cable from the sunken vessel as he was being hauled to the surface by assistants.

The freighter was moored at a dock about 50 feet from the bridge carrying U. S. 50 over the river near this Dorchester County town. Bridge tender Ira Richardson said he heard a man cry out, "Help, come save me."

The Sara C. Conway drifted about 1,000 yards before sinking. Deputy Sheriff Joseph Klopp quoted Capt. Calvert Evans, skipper of the freighter, as saying he estimated the loss at $100,000. The ship was carrying 5,600 bushels of corn.

Man Posts $2,500 Bond In Court

Harvey C. Linn, RD 1, City, has been released under $2,500 bond in Trial Magistrate Court on a morals charge.

Linn and Dewey Emerick, 20, of 11 Valley Street, were charged by the States Attorney's office with statutory rape of two 13-year-old girls. Emerick was released under $2,500 bond on Monday.

The girls, who were detained as material witnesses in the case, have been released under $500 bond each.

RAP QUEEN—London's mass circulation Sunday Pictorial, in a front page story, sharply criticized Queen Elizabeth for going to the races too often, and suggested many Britons disapprove of her avid interest in a sport connected with gambling. The paper was particularly critical of her attendance at the three-day Badminton Horse Trials, where she is pictured.

Judge Rules In B&O Labor Dispute Case

BALTIMORE (AP)—A circuit court judge has ruled that Maryland courts have no jurisdiction in protecting a railroad from a secondary boycott growing out of a labor dispute.

Judge Edwin Harlan ruled yesterday that only the National Labor Relations Board has that power.

The opinion was given in court action brought by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad. The railroad sought a permanent order restraining picketing at its coal and oil piers here.

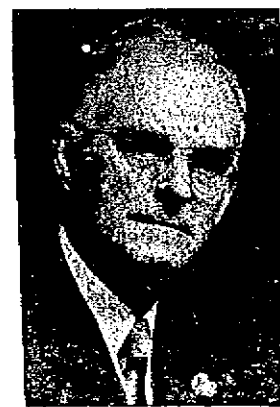

Defendants in the case were the National Maritime Engineers Beneficial Assn.; International Organization of Masters, Mates and Pilots of America and Seafarers International Union.

The defendants had established a picket line near the entrance of the piers, contending that American Coal Shipping, which chartered one of the vessels using the pier, was guilty of unfair labor practice.

The railroad was not involved in the dispute.

Judge Harlan said the Maryland Court is "undeniably preempted from taking jurisdiction over this controversy." He said the railroad has right to file charges with the NLRB.
